BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

A great double battle in which Americans are taking part, is raging on the Picardy and Flanders battle fronts.

Having moved up masses of fresh troops and artillery the Germans struck towards Amiens and along the Franco-Belgian frontier.

Powerful blows were delivered east of Amiens (The British base on the direct railway lines running from Paris to the Channel ports), and also against British positions lying along the battle zones in both the Picardy and Flanders plains.

The Germans, at the cost of heavy sacrifices, were able to take the village of Hangard-en-Santerre, about nine miles southeast of Amiens, but the French still hold strategic ground around the place.

The German pressure has centered around Villers-Bretonneux (east of Amiens), at Hangard (about 1 1/2 miles south of Villers-Bretonneux) and in the Baillieux sector on Flanders front. Three heavy German assaults were delivered east of Amiens and just north of the Villers-Bretonneux-St. Quentin road, but they were beaten off by the British troops.

Northeast of Baillieux, where the French are holding the line, the Germans lunged forward only to be thrown back with severe losses.

In the southern battle zone (Picardy front) the British achieved a fine success.

In a series of counter-attacks in the region of Villers-Bretonneux the Germans were thrown back and ground was taken from them by the British. Some German prisoners were captured, also. Hard fighting continues along the two fronts.

On Wednesday the British struck some sharp blows in the Festubert sector (Just north of La Bassée Canal), and gained ground.

That Americans are on a vital part of the front was shown by an official communique issued by the French war office stating that Franco-American positions south of the Somme river and in the region of the Aves river were attacked after being heavily shelled.

Both Hangard and Villers-Bretonneux are in that district, and the severity of the fighting there has been evidenced by the fact that Hangard changed hands several times before the Germans finally occupied it.

This is at the tip of the German salient opposite Amiens where von Hindenburg is again thrusting with might and main.

The renewal of the German grand offensive finds the same cheery confidence prevalent in both London and Paris. While the Allied lines may be denuded at some points, there is no disposition to fear that they will be breached.

This was the 36th day of the offensive and the sixteenth day of the battle of Flanders.

KINGSTON STILL $250,000 SHORT OF BOND QUOTA

While reports are still uncompleted it was estimated Wednesday evening at the meeting of the teams soliciting subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan that about $850,000 has been so far secured in Kingston, and that there is considerable hard work ahead in order to put Kingston over the top. Kingston's quota is $1,100,000.

A house to house canvass is being made throughout the city and so far in report has been made as to the amount that has been secured in the canvass. The work of canvassing is far from complete as yet, but it is hoped that the work will be practically completed by Saturday evening. It would be a big help to the house to house canvassers if residents would have their minds made up before the canvassers call as to how much and in what manner they desire to take out bonds.

The Boy Scouts are also busy hustling for subscriptions, but have made no report as yet.

At the meeting at the Y. M. C. A., Wednesday the reports by teams were made to Chairman Thomas A. Horton as follows:

No. 1—Palmer Canfield, Jr., captain, $16,700.00
No. 2—Thomas J. Comerford, captain, $42,400.00
No. 3—Everett Fowler, captain, $7,000.00
No. 4—Frank R. Powley, captain, $6,400.00
No. 5—Sam Watts, captain, $20,700.00
No. 6—Herbert Carl, captain, $14,600.00
Boat building, W. J. Turck, captain, $166,200.00
$274,000.00

SCHROEDER WILL GET COMMISSION

Saugerties Boy Graduated From Officers' Training Camp at Camp Upton—Others From This Vicinity Eligible For Commissions.

The War Department on Wednesday announced the names of the graduates from two of the officers' training camps.

Graduates from the third officers' training camp of the Seventy-seventh Division at Camp Upton, Yaphank, Long Island, who are eligible for appointment as second lieutenants and will be commissioned as soon as suitable vacancies occur, include H. J. Schroeder of Saugerties, who will be commissioned in the infantry.

Other graduates from the Camp Upton camp from this vicinity are L. W. Boyes of Delaware county, J. V. Chatterton and A. B. Myers of Beacon, E. G. Minshull of Middletown, A. J. Ornstein and E. Sutton of Poughkeepsie, all of whom will be commissioned in the infantry. Graduates of the officers' training camp at Fort Osgood, Ga., include E. J. Rumse and W. F. Rumse, of Walden, both of whom will be commissioned in the field artillery, and T. C. Truener of Poughkeepsie, who will be commissioned in the infantry.

"JACK" NEWKIRK OF THE U. S. NAVY

"JACK" NEWKIRK.

Son of Mr. and Frank Newkirk, 62 Lafayette avenue, this city. Mr. Newkirk enlisted in the Aviation Corps of the army, December 11, 1917, and was discharged one week later at Fort Slocum. On January 12 he enlisted in the U. S. Navy at Pelham Park, New York city, and has been stationed there since that time. While at Pelham he was a member of the famous First Regiment performing at Madison Square Garden and the Hippodrome. About a month ago he was selected from his regiment for the Signal Q. M. school for petty officers, after having passed entrance examinations. He is now waiting to go into "foreign service" as a signal man with the armed guard (gun crew).

Mr. Newkirk is the writer of the "Jack" letters of army life at Fort Slocum and navy life at Pelham Park, and was a former member of the editorial staff of The Freeman and is now one of its many interested readers in the cantonments.

At the present time Signalman Newkirk is confined at his home in this city with a broken arm sustained in the "Y" hut at Pelham.

STEAMER ST. PAUL SINKS AT PIER

Six Hundred Men Were on Board and Some May Not Have Escaped—Boat Had Just Come Off Drydock.

By Telegram to The Freeman. An Atlantic Port, April 25.—The ten-thousand ton American Line steamer St. Paul, which had been in drydock for alteration of construction, turned on her side and sank after she had backed into her pier here this afternoon.

Six hundred men or more were aboard, workmen and some naval service men. These jumped some sustaining serious injuries and it was reported that half a dozen or more were caught within the hull of the vessel.

As the vessel backed into her berth and hawsers were made fast it was learned that he had taken on water, probably during a large part of her voyage from the drydock. She slowly settled, while the workmen clambered off or jumped to the pier. Heavy ropes were rushed from the docks and from aboard the vessel and made fast as the big liner began to show a list, but the ropes snapped, and the boat gradually keeled over and sank.

The water was about forty feet deep in the slip, and the liner was consequently almost entirely submerged. The fate of the men caught in her hull, if the reports of workmen trapped is true, is unknown.

Military lines were thrown about the pier and it was impossible to get definite information until some official of the line made a formal statement. Police officers outside the military lines said two men who jumped from the vessel's deck failed to come up and apparently were drowned. It is believed that the seacocks of the liner were left open accidentally when she left the drydocks, and that she took on water unnoticed on her trip to her berth. There were also reports which could not be confirmed, that she had left the dock not properly ballasted. No official of the line or of the police department had any evidence that the sinking was the result of a plot. It was said to have been an accident, the full responsibility for which could not be immediately determined.

Special Service at Rosendale.

Hiawatha Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Rosendale will attend the special service at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Rosendale, on Sunday, April 28, at 7:45 p. m. The Rosendale Troop, B. S. of A., will also be present. A general invitation is given to all to join in this service.

HOETGER LOST ARM IN FRANCE

Walter Hoetger, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoetger of Third avenue, is in the Columbia base hospital receiving treatment. The young man is probably the first from Ulster county to be seriously wounded at the battle-front in France. During an engagement he lost one arm.

ANOTHER FREEMAN MAN IN FRANCE

PRIVATE DAVID MARKSON.

Left Kingston February 26 for Camp Upton and was there assigned to Company B, 306th Infantry. Now somewhere in France, notice of his arrival having been received this week. Private Markson succeeded Thomas M. Edwards, Co. L, 310th Infantry, as a pressman in The Freeman job printing establishment. He was succeeded in turn by George Roche, who leaves for Camp Dix next Tuesday, making the third man to enter the army from this position. Private Markson's brother, N. G. Markson, has been in France since last summer, a member of the 14th Engineers (Railway).

Charles Joy of Hurley, one of the first to enlist for the war, has had a 10 day furlough. He returned on Wednesday to the camp at Spartanburg, where he is in Co. A, Second Anti-Air Craft Machine Battalion, as mechanic.

Private Elijah Longyear, Jr., of Company K, 306th Infantry, son of Elijah Longyear, Sr., of 139 St. James street, has sent word home of his safe arrival in France. He is the second son of Mr. Longyear to go across to the fighting front.

Lloyd F. Regendahl of Battery F, 208th Field Artillery, of Camp Dix, N. J., who has been spending a five days' furlough at his home on O'Neil street, returned to Camp Dix today. His mother accompanied him as far as New York city, where she will spend a few days with friends.

Sergeant Clifford Horsfall, who has been attending the officers' training school at Camp Dix, N. J., where he went last fall with the second detail of the National Army conscripts from Ulster county, returned to camp on Wednesday after a five days' furlough spent with friends in town.

Frank Green, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Green of West Park, who is doing his bit on the U. S. ship Leviathan did not spend Sunday at his home there, as stated in The Freeman on Wednesday evening, April 24. Mr. Green is ill with mumps and is not able to come home at present.

In a late casualty list issued the name of Corporal Frank D. Brooks is listed as having died from wounds. There was a man by the name of Frank R. Brooks of High Falls who left Kingston on September 23 with the contingent, that left for Camp Dix. Local Board No. 2 has not received any word from Frank R. Brooks and does not know whether or not he went to France.

ORDER 2 KINGSTON BOYS TO FLORIDA

Orders have been issued to Sergeant Walter H. Gill and Sergeant Chester B. Rifenburg, who have been stationed at Camp Dix, N. J., since they left Kingston last fall, to proceed to Jacksonville, Florida, where they will enter the quartermaster officers' training camp, at Camp Johnston.

Sergeant Gill was one of the seven comprising the first detail which left Kingston in September and soon after his arrival at Camp Dix was promoted to corporal and then to sergeant. He has had charge of the food supplies for Company L, 310th Infantry, for some time. Sergeant Gill is a son of Surrogate Walter N. Gill and was clerk of the surrogate's court when he became a member of the National Army. Sergeant Rifenburg was a member of the second detail to go to Camp Dix and received promotion to corporal and then to sergeant of Company L, 310th Infantry. He is a son of former Supervisor Tjerk I. Rifenburg.

IN THE SERVICE OF OUR COUNTRY

PRIVATE BYRON V. STEVENS.

Son of Capt. B. F. Stevens and nephew of Judge Frederick Stephan of this city. Enlisted May, 1917, in Poughkeepsie. Now somewhere in France, a member of the Medical Corps of the 30th Infantry.

William Mellert, Jr., of Zena, N. Y., enlisted at Poughkeepsie Monday, as a second-class seaman. He reported for service today.

Henry J. Wieber of the plumbing firm of Wieber & Walter, who enlisted in the naval reserves, has received orders to report at Pelham Bay on Monday.

Word has been received of the safe arrival somewhere in France of First Sgt. Paul E. Compton, son of the Rev. William Compton of Poughkeepsie, formerly of Kingston.

John J. Waldron, a former resident of this city, and for the last ten years a resident of Buffalo, is with the National Army at Camp Dix, N. J. He went with the Erie county contingent.

Mrs. Walter Burger of West Park received word on Monday of the safe arrival of her nephew, Private Harry Bennett, who is doing his bit somewhere in France. Private Bennett is a member of the 306th Inf., Camp Upton, L. I.

Charles Joy of Hurley, one of the first to enlist for the war, has had a 10 day furlough. He returned on Wednesday to the camp at Spartanburg, where he is in Co. A, Second Anti-Air Craft Machine Battalion, as mechanic.

SOCIAL CLUB MENU MAKES HIM HUNGRY

Freeman Man in France Afraid He Will Miss the Clam Bake Next Summer—Newspapers That Have Little News.

At the time of The Freeman Social Club banquet menu cards and papers containing a report of the meeting were sent to each of the members who were doing their bit for Uncle Sam. The following acknowledgement has been received by James E. Connelly, president of the club:

On Active Service Somewhere in France, March 28, 1918.

Dear Jim:

I received your package today with the paper and menu card. I am not sure yet whether I will wait until the close of the war or start out now to "finish you." The combination is too much. First all those kind words and second, sending a man on field rations the menu from a banquet. The mess sergeant was in tonight and I showed it to him and threatened to go on a hunger strike if he refused to provide such a dinner tomorrow night, and all he said was, "Well, I guess you will have to strike then." He cast longing glances over the list and then immediately left. If it made him as hungry as it did me I'll bet he went back to the mess shack for eats.

I am a bit disappointed I was unable to be with you then. I'm afraid I'll miss the bake next summer more. Especially the music coming in on the boat.

Well, seriously now. How is everything in the office? I understand there have been quite some changes since I left. Jim Barber has not enlisted, has he?

I am glad I am in Sunny France, but oh, for the smell of printers' ink again. Over here I get the New York Herald, Paris edition, also the Chicago Tribune and Daily Mail (English), so you see even though they are a day old we get plenty of news, but your papers have so much more in them than those over here. I read things in The Freeman I never saw before although we may have heard of them at the time they happened, so I guess you know a great deal more over there than we do here on the scene of action.

There is little to say and taps sounds in a couple of moments, so with best wishes to you, your folks and the members of the force at the office, I will close, again thanking you for the paper and card. Tell the boys to write; also you write.

As ever,
PRIVATE FRED HOFFMAN.

ELMENDORF WRITES FROM ATLANTA

Thanks the Officials of Local Board No. 1 for Inducting Him in Service—Is at the School of Military Aeronautics.

Captain B. J. Hornbeck has received the following letter from Tracy Elmendorf:

Box 219, Y. M. C. A., April 23, 1918.

Mr. Hornbeck and Members of Local Board No. 1, Kingston, N. Y. Gentlemen:

I have been so very busy since I came here, working for Uncle Sam, that I did not have an opportunity of dropping you a line before.

It affords me unusual pleasure to extend to your board my sincere appreciation for the promptness in inducting me in the service.

Just a few remarks about life here. Our work deals with the supply end of the game of war, so that calls for a knowledge of all parts of aeroplanes, engines, machine guns, and like necessities of war.

War is carried on by men, money and materials, and it is up to us fellows that materials get to the front.

The people in Atlanta are very courteous to the soldiers. Two of the wonders here are these: a rock 800 feet high and 7 miles across its base, and a painting of the Civil War that is said to be the largest painting of its kind in the world.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) TRACY L. ELMENDORF.

POST OFFICE WILL CLOSE AT NOON

On Friday, When the Entire Post-office Department of the City Will Unite in Doing What They Can to Sell Liberty Loan Bonds.

All over the country the employees of the United States Postal service will help in the big drive on Liberty Day—Friday—in selling as many Liberty Bonds as possible. In Kingston the local postoffice department will close at noon tomorrow and will devote the rest of the day in selling Liberty Loan Bonds. There will be the usual morning collection and delivery of mail, but promptly at 12 o'clock the three postoffices in the city will close their doors. The usual holiday hours for collection of mail will prevail Friday afternoon. Residents of the city should bear the fact in mind that the central postoffice as well as the downtown and uptown branches will close at 12 noon and make arrangements accordingly.

GERMANS RESUME DRIVE IN PICARDY

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, April 25.—The German grand offensive is again on.

Renewing their attacks on the Picardy battle front the Teutons lunged forward on a thirteen-mile front east of Amiens after a violent bombardment, concentrating their heaviest pressure at the point where the British and French armies join.

The heaviest fighting centered at the village of Villers-Bretonneux, between nine and ten miles east of the British base at Amiens, and after a hard struggle the Germans were able to occupy it. A fierce struggle was still in progress there at last reports from the front.

The Germans used their old time tactics of assaulting in dense formation and the advancing ranks were mowed down by the British artillery fire.

American troops are now on the Picardy battle line and are engaged in the present action, the French war office officially announced.

(The Americans are evidently holding positions between the Somme and Aves rivers southeast of Amiens, as the official communique issued in Paris last night said that Franco-American positions south of the Somme and on the Aves river were attacked by the Germans in force following a severe bombardment. This is a vital part of the front and it was a high compliment to the traditions of the American army that they were put on the front at such a crucial period.)

There has been a bloody struggle in the sector of Hangard-en-Santerre (south of Villers-Bretonneux). The Germans succeeded at the cost of tremendous sacrifices in gaining a foothold in the wood north of Hangard as well as in the outskirts of the village. The French troops made a gallant resistance and every man fought like a hero, despite the superiority of the German numbers.

The Germans tried to break through on the ridge in the sector of Hailles, but encountered such a stern resistance that their ranks were thrown back time after time and finally the attempts had to be given up.

The Germans tried to recapture Senecot Wood and the high ground in the same neighborhood, but had no success.

The German war office in its report on Wednesday night made no claim, stating that "the situation is unchanged." In a preceding report gains were claimed on the Flanders front, especially northeast of Baillieux, the main position on the northern flank of the Lys salient.

It was a nip and tuck struggle for the British have directed strong counter attacks in that region and the German gains, if any, were made at severe cost.

At the same time the Germans launched assaults in the district north of Albert, using fresh troops. All were repulsed and when the German forces were thrown back, a number of prisoners were left in British hands.

The operations of the past thirty hours indicate that the Germans are striving for the following results:

1—Press forward against Amiens and Haazebrouck (two very important British railroad positions).

2—Put a wedge, if possible, between the British and French armies.

3—Pocket Arras and cut important lines of communication supporting the British armies along the Belgian frontier.

4—Compel the British to retire from high ground immediately north of Arras; and

5—Straighten the line between the two salients that were created by the double German drive on the Picardy and Flanders fronts.

During the full on both battlefields the Germans have evidently been busy reorganizing their forces, bringing up fresh troops and moving big guns further to the front.

There has been a tremendous bombardment of villages and highways back of the British and French fronts and the attacks (which began on Wednesday morning) were accompanied by terrific barrages.

The Germans used a number of tanks in their assaults on the Picardy front and in some places the attacking waves were preceded by these steel monsters. This was one of the few sectors in which the Germans had employed tanks although prisoners taken in the early stages of the drive said that the Germans had copied the British models and were holding tanks in reserve for future use.

French reinforcements, that had been rushed to the Flanders battle zone from the Picardy front, withstood a powerful assault in the sector of Brancourt (near the Franco-Belgian frontier).

The Germans claim to have made a slight gain there, but other reports from that front state all German attacks were repulsed.

Patriotism at Cotekill.

A patriotic meeting will be held in the Cotekill school house Monday evening, April 22, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of Cotekill Troop, Boy Scouts of America. John E. Hardenbergh of Rosendale will deliver an address, "The Third Liberty Loan." Rev. James Cameron, Scoutmaster of Rosendale Troop, Boy Scouts of America, will present the war service emblems earned during the Third Liberty Loan to the Cotekill Scouts. Rev. C. N. Stevens of Stone Ridge will dedicate a service flag of 17 stars to the public school. A short program of songs and recitations will be given. The public is cordially invited to let us show our interest and patriotism by attending. It will be worth our effort.

Well, seriously now how is everything in the office? I understand there have been quite some changes since I left. Jim Barber has not enlisted, has he?

I am glad I am in Sunny France, but oh, for the smell of printers' ink again. Over here I get the New York Herald, Tribune and Daily Mail (English), so you see even though they are a day old we get plenty of news, but your papers have so much more in them than those over here. I read things in The Freeman I never saw before although we may have heard of them at the time they happened, so I guess you know a great deal more over there than we do here on the scene of action.

There is little to say and tape sounds in a couple of moments, so with best wishes to you, your folks and the members of the club, I close the office for the paper and card. Tell the boys to write, also you write.

As ever,

PRIVATE FRED HOFFMAN
Q. M. C. A. P. O. 705, A. E. F., France.

GERMANS RESUME DRIVE IN PICARDY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 25.—The German resumed offensive in again on. Renewing their attacks on the Peady battle front the Germans lunged forward on a thirteen-mile front east of Amiens after a violent bombardment, concentrating their heaviest pressure at the point where the British and French armies join.

The heaviest fighting centered at the village of Villers-Bretonneux, between nine and ten miles east of the British base at Amiens, and after a hard struggle the Germans were able to occupy it. A fierce struggle was still in progress there at last reports from the front.

The Germans used their old time tactics of assaulting in dense formation and the advancing ranks were mowed down by the British artillery fire.

American troops are now on the Peady battle line and are engaged in the present action, the French war office officially announced.

(The Americans are evidently holding positions between the Somme and Aves rivers southeast of Amiens, as the official communique issued in Paris last night said that Franco-American positions south of the Somme and on the Aves river were attacked by the Germans in force following a severe bombardment. This is a vital part of the front and it was a high command of the traditions of the American army that they were put on the front at such a crucial period.)

There has been a bloody struggle in the sector of Hangard-en-Santerre (south of Villers-Bretonneux). The Germans succeeded at the cost of tremendous sacrifices in gaining a foothold in the wood north of Hangard as well as in the outskirts of the village. The French troops made a gallant resistance and every man fought like a hero, despite the superiority of the German numbers.

The Germans tried to break through on the ridge in the sector of Haillies, but encountered such a stern resistance that their ranks were thrown back time after time and finally the attempts had to be given up. The Germans tried to recapture Senecat Wood and the high ground in the same neighborhood, but had no success.

The German war office in its report on Wednesday night made no claim, stating that "the situation is unchanged." In a preceding report gains were claimed on the Flanders front, especially northeast of Bailliet, the main position on the northern flank of the German salient.

It was a nip and tuck struggle for the British have directed strong counter attacks in that region and the German gains, if any, were made at severe cost.

At the same time the Germans launched assaults in the district north of Albert, using fresh troops. All were repulsed and when the German forces were thrown back, a number of prisoners were left in British hands.

The operations of the past thirty hours indicate that the Germans are striving for the following results:

1.—Press forward against Amiens and Haazebrouck (two very important British railroad positions).

2.—Put a wedge, if possible, between the British and French armies.

3.—Pocket Arras and cut important lines of communication supplying the British armies along the Belgian frontier.

4.—Compel the British to retire from high ground immediately north of Arras.

5.—Straighten the line between the twin salients that were created by the double German drive on the Peady and Flanders fronts.

During the lull on both battlefields the Germans have evidently been busy reorganizing their forces, bringing up fresh troops and moving big guns further to the front.

There has been a tremendous bombardment of villages and highways back of the British and French fronts and the attacks (which began on Wednesday morning) were accompanied by terrific barrages.

The Germans used a number of tanks in their assaults on the Peady front and in some places the attacking waves were preceded by these steel monsters. This was one of the few sectors in which the Germans had employed tanks although prisoners taken in the early stages of the drive said that the Germans had coined the British models and were holding tanks in reserve for future use.

French reinforcements, that had been rushed to the Flanders battle zone from the Peady front, withstood a powerful assault in the sector of Brancourt (near the Franco-Belgian frontier).

The Germans claim to have made a slight gain there, but other reports from that front state that German attacks were repulsed.

Patriotism at Corteckill.

A patriotic meeting will be held in the Corteckill school house Monday evening, April 22, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of Corteckill Troop, Boy Scouts of America. John E. Hardenbergh of Rosendale will deliver an address, "The Third Liberty Loan."

Rev. James Cameron, Scoutmaster of Rosendale Troop, Boy Scouts of America, will present the war service emblem, awarded during the second Liberty Loan to the Corteckill Scouts. Rev. C. N. Rose of Stone Ridge will dedicate a service flag of 17 stars to the public school. A short program of songs and recitations will be given. The public is cordially invited. Let us show our interest and patriotism by attending. It will be worth our effort.

KINGSTON STILL $250,000 SHORT OF BOND QUOTA

While reports are still uncompleted it was estimated Wednesday evening at the meeting of the teams soliciting subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan that about $850,000 has been so far secured in Kingston, and that there is considerable hard work to be done to put Kingston over the top. Kingston's quota is $1,100,000.

A house to house canvass is being made throughout the city and so far no report has been made as to the amount that has been secured in the canvass. The work of canvassing is far from complete as yet, but it is hoped that the work will be practically completed by Saturday evening. It would be a big help to the house to house canvassers if residents would leave their minds made up before the canvassers call as to how much and in what manner they desire to take out bonds.

The Boy Scouts are also busy hustling for subscriptions, but have made no report as yet.

At the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday the reports by teams was made to Chairman Thomas A. Horton as follows:

No. 1—Palmer Canfield, Jr., captain	$16,700.00
No. 2—Thomas J. Connerford, captain	42,400.00
No. 3—Everett Fowler, captain	7,000.00
No. 4—Frank R. Powley, captain	6,400.00
No. 5—Sam Watts, captain	20,700.00
No. 6—Herbert Carl, captain	14,600.00
Boat building, W. J. Turk, captain	166,200.00
Total	$274,000.00

STEAMER ST. PAUL SINKS AT PIER

Six Hundred Men Were on Board and Some May Not Have Escaped—Boat Had Just Come Off Drydock.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

An Atlantic Port, April 25.—The ten-thousand ton American Line steamer St. Paul, which had been in drydock for alteration of construction, turned on her side and sank after she had backed into her pier here this afternoon.

Six hundred men or more were aboard, workmen and some naval service men. These jumped some sustaining serious injuries and it was reported that half a dozen or more were caught within the hull of the vessel.

As the vessel backed into her berth and hawsers were made fast it was learned that he had taken on water, probably during a large part of her voyage from the drydock. She slowly settled while the workmen clambered or jumped to the pier. Heavy ropes were rushed from the docks and from aboard the vessel and made fast as the big liner began to show a list, but the ropes snapped, and the boat gradually keeled over and sank.

The water was about forty feet deep in the slip, and the liner was consequently almost entirely submerged. The fate of the men caught in her hull, if the reports of workmen trapped is true, is unknown.

Military lines were thrown about the pier and it was impossible to get definite information until some official of the line made a formal statement. Police officers outside the military lines said two men who jumped from the vessel's deck failed to come up and apparently were drowned.

It is believed that the seacocks of the liner were left open accidentally when she left the drydock, and that she took on water unnoticed on her trip to her berth. There were also reports which could not be confirmed, that she had lost the dock not properly ballasted. No official of the line or of the police department had any evidence that the sinking was the result of a plot. It was said to have been an accident, the full responsibility for which could not be immediately determined.

Special Service at Rosendale.

Hiawatha Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Rosendale will attend the special service at All Saints Episcopal Church, Rosendale, on Sunday, April 28, at 7:45 p. m. The Rosendale Troop, B. S. of A., will also be present. A general invitation is given to all to join in this service.

KINGSTON SCOUTS TO ROLL LIBERTY BALL

On Wednesday, Scout Executive H. E. Soles received word from the Boy Scouts of Saugerties that the Liberty Ball was expected at Saugerties somewhere about noon on Saturday, and that the Boy Scouts of that village would roll the same to Glenview Hill, where the Kingston Scouts were asked to meet them. In response to this notification, and in accordance with the splendid idea of having the Boy Scouts roll the ball from Buffalo to New York, Scout Executive Soles has arranged for every Boy Scout in Kingston to have the privilege of doing his bit in rolling in this Liberty Ball, a feat that will make him a part of the history of this great world war.

Boy Scouts Attention.

Scout Executive Soles requests all Boy Scouts of Kingston to be at Scout Headquarters on Broadway, promptly at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday morning. Each Boy is asked to bring with him, his lunch, and those Scouts who have guard ropes are asked to bring them. Troop flags must also be brought. Promptly at 10:30 o'clock the Scouts will start on a hike for the Glenview Hill, and will eat their lunch in the open before returning with the ball. Chas. A. Warren will be notified from Saugerties of the time when the ball is expected to arrive in Kingston, and the ball, the coach and the accompanying Boy Scouts will meet at the city line by Company V. The ball parade then proceeding to the armory. It is hoped that no Boy Scout in this city will, for any reason, have to miss in the bringing of the Third Liberty Loan Ball to town, and it is sure no Scout will be satisfied not to take part in the performance.

ORDER 2 KINGSTON BOYS TO FLORIDA

Orders have been issued to Sergeant Walter H. Gill and Sergeant Chester B. Rifenbary, who have been stationed at Camp Dix, N. J., since they left Kingston last fall, to proceed to Jacksonville, Florida, where they will enter the quartermaster officers' training camp, at Camp Johnston.

Sergeant Gill was one of the seven comprising the first detail which left Kingston in September and soon after his arrival at Camp Dix was promoted to corporal and then to sergeant. He has had charge of the food supplies for Company L, 210th Infantry, for some time. Sergeant Gill is a son of Surrogate Walter N. Gill and was clerk of the surrogate's court when he became a member of the National Army.

Sergeant Rifenbary was a member of the second detail to go to Camp Dix and received promotion to corporal and then to sergeant of Company L, 210th Infantry. He is a son of former Supervisor Tjerk I. Rifenbary.

ELMENDORF WRITES FROM ATLANTA

Thanks the Officials of Local Board No. 1 for Inducting Him in Service—Is at the School of Military Aeronautics.

Captain R. J. Hornbeck has received the following letter from Tracy Elmendorf:

Box 219, Y. M. C. A., April 23, 1918.

Mr. Hornbeck and Members of Local Board No. 1, Kingston, N. Y. Gentlemen:

I have been so very busy since I came home working for Uncle Sam, that I did not have an opportunity of dropping you a line before.

It affords me unusual pleasure to extend to your board my sincere appreciation for the promptness in inducting me in the service.

Just a few remarks about life here. Our work deals with the supply end of the game of war, so that calls for a knowledge of all parts of aeroplanes, engines, machine guns, and like necessities of war.

War is carried on by men, money and materials, and it is up to us fellows that materials get to the front.

The people in Atlanta are very cordial to the soldiers. Two of the wonders here are these: a rock 800 feet high and 7 miles around its base, and a painting of the Civil War that is said to be the largest painting of its kind in the world.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) TRACY L. ELMENDORF.

POST OFFICE WILL CLOSE AT NOON

On Friday, When the Entire Post Office Department of the City Will Unite in Doing What They Can to Sell Liberty Loan Bonds.

All over the country the employees of the United States Postal service will help in the big drive on Liberty Day—Friday—in selling as many Liberty Bonds as possible. In Kingston the local postmaster department will close at noon tomorrow and devote the rest of the day in selling Liberty Loan Bonds. There will be the usual morning collection and delivery of mail, but promptly at 12 o'clock the three postoffices in the city will close their doors. The usual holiday hours for collection of mail will prevail Friday afternoon. Residents of the city should bear the fact in mind that the central postoffice as well as the downtown and uptown branches will close at 12 noon and make arrangements accordingly.

SCHROEDER WILL GET COMMISSION

Saugerties Boy Graduated From Officers' Training Camp at Camp Upton—Others From This Vicinity Eligible For Commissions.

The War Department on Wednesday announced the names of the graduates from two of the officers' training camps.

Graduates from the third officers' training camp of the Seventy-seventh Division at Camp Upton, Taphank, Long Island, who are eligible for appointment as second lieutenants and will be commissioned as soon as suitable vacancies occur, include H. J. Schroeder of Saugerties, who will be commissioned in the infantry.

Other graduates from the Camp Upton camp from this vicinity are L. W. Boyce of Delaware county, J. V. Chatterton and A. B. Myers of Beacon, E. G. Minshull of Middletown, A. J. Ormeston and P. Sutton of Poughkeepsie, all of whom will be commissioned in the infantry.

Graduates of the officers' training camp at Fort Ord, California, include E. J. Rumsa and W. F. Rumsa, of Weidens, both of whom will be commissioned in the field artillery, and T. C. Truener of Poughkeepsie, who will be commissioned in the infantry.

WILL CELEBRATE LIBERTY DAY

Friday evening Clinton Chapter, No. 445, O. E. S., will hold a Liberty Day meeting to conform to the National Liberty Loan Day designated by President Wilson. A very interesting program has been arranged, consisting of music, both vocal and instrumental. Mayor Canfield will be the speaker of the evening. Mr. Tacey of Port Ewen will entertain, and there will be other pleasing features. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the order as this will be a special public meeting. At the close of the exercises a singing offering will be taken, the proceeds to be applied to the Liberty Loan Fund.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 25, 1918.

The German gunner who shouted: "Donner und blitzen! It's the Americans!" when he saw a storming party of marines who had landed on the Mole at Zebrugg Monday night probably expressed the feeling which underlies a large part of the German fighting force. The landing force was composed of British marines, not American, but the exploit was so daring, so unreal to the German mind, so different from methods of warfare to which the German is accustomed, that the gunner in question had every reason to believe that America's entrance in the war and the landing of an army in France would be accompanied by some feat involving unusual risk. To the German mind, forces as strongly placed as those at the Zebrugg Mole should be safe from even the thought of attack, and one might as well think of capturing the Kaiser as to land an attacking party on territory so well protected by land batteries and mine fields. German officials have belittled American man power and efforts and to a certain degree have succeeded in creating the impression that American forces cannot be matched successfully against the trained troops of the Kaiser. Germans are well enough acquainted with America, however, to realize fully what Americans are capable of doing. It is up to America to make good and the American fighting forces are anxious to make a record for themselves if they are given a chance. The magnitude of the task requires that our fighting force shall be sufficiently large and well trained to go ahead to a finish fight when the American movement once gets under way. The British raid on Ostend and Zebrugg would be worthy of American effort and when once American forces get to work will undoubtedly be duplicated or exceeded. The main thing now is to have a large enough, properly equipped force to do efficient work in the fighting line.

Readjustment of industry to meet war conditions and placing it on a practical war basis has been pointed out from time to time but accomplishment is far from being systematic and greater governmental control will be necessary to make certain that the things required for winning the war will be rapidly produced with a minimum of dislocation of the industrial machine. The committee of the American Economic Association which has been investigating the purchasing power of money in relation to war has made public its second report in which the situation is thus concisely stated: "The war necessitated a sudden change in the direction of our industrial activity. We have to shift millions of men and billions of capital to new tasks. That shift must be made in the shortest possible time. Yet we must keep the essential peacetime work from becoming demoralized." Ordinarily the offering of profitable prices redirects industry and that plan was followed by the Allies for three years. Our own entrance in the war was followed by the same plan but in many lines it was found there were not enough men or materials to go around and delays threatening our military efficiency resulted. These difficulties have all been industrial, not financial. Government regulation has been attempted with success, but only with materials, but if systematization is to be carried out successfully, authority must be given to some individual or board to determine what industries are essential and through such regulation, it is believed, a proper readjustment of industrial conditions will follow as men continue to follow their natural bent of mechanical ingenuity and are attracted by the prices paid for labor which they are capable of performing. While this is a slow process and much efficiency is lost, unless there is conscription of labor, the same as for military service, it seems the most feasible of any plan suggested.

Conservation of wool which will enable soldier and civilian to have more of it in his clothes can be effected in part by cutting out useless frills in men's apparel, and a warning issued to the seven hundred and fifty members of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America is expected to be followed by a change in the style of clothing worn by men. There are few frills that men wear, the masculine mind preferring simplicity always, and it is only the insistence of tailors that has made the maker rather than the wearer of clothing the arbiter of fashions. The embellishments against which the merchant tailors are warned include belts on coats, cuffs on sleeves and a few similar adornments which tailors generally insist adds "distinctiveness" to clothing. Possibly the tailors are right, but there is not a red-blooded American man who would not willingly sacrifice distinctiveness in order to conserve wool. As in other things on which we have been effecting a saving, the individual saving is slight but the aggregate makes the saving worth while. Elimination of embellishments was pointed out as necessary some time ago by the Commercial Economy Board of the Council of National Defense, and the average clothing manufacturer and the average consumer are willing to abide by the advice of the Board. The tailors of women's clothing also claim to be economizing in the use of cloth, but their economy relates principally to the amount of material used for the main garment and apparently does not take in consideration the embellishments and frills. Simplicity is the first essential in saving. Despite freakish styles which have appeared periodically for many years, the greatest beauty is found in the simple styles of the Greeks which were marked by their simplicity.

Standing on His Rights.
 "Why did you strike this man?" asked the judge sternly.
 "He called me a liar, Your Honor," replied the accused.
 "Is that true?" asked the judge, turning to the man with the muzzled face.
 "Sure it's true," said the accused.
 "I called him a liar because he is one, and I can prove it."
 "What have you got to say to that?" asked the judge of the defendant.
 "It's got nothing to do with the case, Your Honor," was the unexpected reply. "Even if I am a liar I guess I've got a right to be sensitive about it, ain't I?"—Topeka State Journal.

Realism.
 It was at the movies. An old couple sat together through a picture that included many views of the Wild West. In one of these a cattle "round up" appeared, in which the dust rose in clouds from the parched ground. The old lady began to cough and finally when the neighbors began to fidget, her husband nudged her with his elbow. "Don't cough, Annie; can't you see you're disturbing the folks?"

His wife looked at him apologetically over her handkerchief, smothering a spasm. "I'll let it help it. Ephraim. The dust tickles my throat."

It Pays to Advertise.
 "Walter," said the indignant customer, "what does this mean? Yesterday I was served for the same price with a portion of chicken twice the size of this!"

"Yes, sir," answered the waiter.
 "Where did you sit, sir?"
 "Over by the window."
 "Then that accounts for it. We always give people who sit by the windows large portions. It's an advertisement!"—New York Evening Post.

What Became of Her.
 "What became of the Yarde girl who was ambitious for a stage career?"
 "She turned out much better than her friends expected."
 "You don't mean to tell me she's starring now?"
 "No, indeed. She's the mother of six children and has a husband who doesn't run around at night."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Mazola—the Wonderful Oil From Corn— —is a Cooking Medium Easy to Use— Pure and Economical

Food economy after all gets down to a question of food preparation. Cooked one way a food may be costly and scarcely fit to eat. Cooked another way it is delicious and economical.

Mazola, the pure oil pressed from the heart of Indian Corn, is showing the way to better cooking at less cost.

It makes wonderfully light, crisp, wholesome pastries, fried and sautéed dishes and allows foods to retain their natural flavor.

Since Mazola is a vegetable oil it enables you to help save animal fats—butter, lard, suet.

Economical because it can be used again and again until every drop is gone—does not transmit the flavor or odor of one food to another.

Mazola is the perfect salad oil, too—gives a delicious tang and is much easier to mix than olive oil.

For sale in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons. For greater economy buy the large sizes.

There is a valuable Cook Book for Mazola users. It shows you how to fry, sauté, make dressings and sauces more delicious, make light, digestible pastry. Should be in every home. Send for it or ask your grocer. FREE.

Fried Chicken

1 young chicken
 1/2 cup Mazola
 1/2 cup flour
 2 cups milk
 1 teaspoonful of salt
 1/2 teaspoonful of pepper
 1/2 teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley

Wash, clean and joint chicken—dust with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Put half of Mazola into large iron pan which must be very hot; add chicken and sear on both sides very quickly. Add a little more Mazola if needed; cover pan and push on back of stove where it will cook slowly for 30 minutes. Turn once or twice. A little water can be added to keep it from sticking or getting hard. When tender, add milk; remove cover and let it simmer 10 minutes. There will be two cups of good rich gravy.

Or chicken can be breaded, and fried in deep hot Mazola.

TRIVICE FLAG AT TEMPLE EMANUEL

The musical and readings given at Temple Emanuel Wednesday evening, in connection with the presentation of the service flag, proved to be a very enjoyable affair. Each number on the program was highly appreciated. The violin solos by Nat Herman were artistically rendered. The vocal solos by Mrs. Helen Stearns Mann greatly delighted her hearers, the one selection, "Keep the Home Fires Burning," being sung with much feeling as to call forth great enthusiasm. Miss Anna Cassler, in her charming manner, appropriately gave James Whitcomb Riley's "Old Man, Jim." Miss Ruby Markson, showed musical skill in the rendition of her piano solo, and generously responded to the applause given her, with a pleasing encore. Mrs. Osterhoudt's solo delighted her audience and Herman La Tour's rich, mellow tenor voice so charmed his listeners that he was obliged to give an encore number.

At the close of this part of the program, the Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, in an able and eloquent manner, addressed those present, and at the close of his remarks presented the service flag, the gift of the Ladies' Aid Society. The judges' remarks and genial manner so pleased the audience that their one regret came so soon to an end. Rabbi Rosenberg accepted the flag in behalf of the Temple Emanuel, feelingly speaking of the occasion and its portent. Circle No. 2, of Temple Emanuel is to be congratulated upon having presented such a delightful and appropriate program as was rendered last evening.

STOCK COMPANY MAKES GOOD.

Myrtle-Harder Company continues to Present Standard Dramas.

The Myrtle-Harder Company played "It Pays to Advertise" before a large and delighted audience at the Kingston opera house Wednesday night and tonight will present Margaret Livingston's remarkable success, "The Lie."

On Friday night the company will present David Belasco's and Charles Frohman's great Indian and American drama, "The Heart of Wexona," which created a sensation among theatrical managers when it was first played last fall at the Lyceum Theatre, New York city. The dramatic critics and the public united in accepting it as one of the dramatic successes of a decade. It was the intention of the producers to give the theatregoers an idea of the traditions of the Indians and their loyalty to each other, together with their high standard of morals, and they succeeded admirably. While the play is western and a strong Indian atmosphere predominates, the heart interest of the little white squaw is quite out of the ordinary.

Bringing Autos from Detroit.

Abram F. Molyneux and an assistant from the Uster Garage, accompanied by Supervisor Charles A. Schermerhorn and Eliakim Whitney, left town Wednesday for Detroit, from which place they will bring two Cadillac touring cars to Kingston. The freight embargo necessitates automobile dealers getting their cars from the factories and running them to their destination. Mr. Molyneux and his assistant will run the cars to Kingston, where they have already been sold. Supervisor Schermerhorn and Mr. Whitney accompanied him for the sake of the trip home by auto.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, April 25.—Prayer service will be omitted this evening in the Methodist Church on account of the patriotic rally in Pythian Hall.

Miss Elsie Lowe will entertain the Dorcas Society at her home on Schryver street Friday evening, April 26. A full attendance is desired.

A patriotic rally will be held in Pythian Hall this evening. "Wake up." Now is the time to show your patriotism. Our boys have left their homes, and are now "over there" or anxiously awaiting the call to go "over there." Home comforts are not obtainable without your co-operation. The meeting is to be addressed by the Hon. John G. Van Etten of the city of Kingston, John M. Cashin, Esq., of Kingston, Mrs. Laura McMillan, also of Kingston. These are all forcible and eloquent speakers, who will talk upon the methods to be used towards the annihilation of the Hun, thus making our home safe in the future. Everybody come filled with American patriotic spirit. Do not remain away, thus giving your neighbor any idea that you are hostile to the United States or in favor of German autocracy in this war. The clergy is also invited.

The Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout, pastor of the Methodist Church, will preach an anniversary sermon to the members of Port Ewen Lodge, No. 656, I. O. O. F., Sunday evening, April 28. Odd Fellows residing in this vicinity, who are members of other lodges, are most cordially invited to meet with Port Ewen Lodge and attend this service. Officers and members of Port Ewen Lodge will meet at the lodge rooms at 7 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will hold a variety food sale in the chapel Friday afternoon, April 26, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Those having articles to contribute will kindly have them there by 2:30 o'clock.

Musical lovers of Port Ewen and vicinity will be given the opportunity of tripping the light fantastic at Pythian Hall Wednesday evening, May 1, when the alumni of the Port Ewen Public School No. 13 will hold their patriotic dance. Miller's orchestra has been engaged for the occasion and this alone is enough to insure a good time for all attending. The proceeds will be used for the purchase of a service flag for former students of No. 13 who are new in the service, and also for Red Cross aid. If you are huddled with patriotism now is the time to show it, and if you want a service flag to float over No. 13 for the boys who have offered themselves for humanity, purchase a ticket for this worthy cause and have the satisfaction that you have done your bit in showing your respect for them. If you do not dance, buy a ticket or any number of them and your money will be readily accepted just the same. Dancing begins at 8 o'clock. Admission: Ladies, 15c; gents, 25c.

The following members of the Port Ewen Orchestra will assist with the music at the patriotic rally in Pythian Hall: W. A. Van Dover, cornetist; Mrs. John U. Gillette, pianist; LeGrand Doyle, violinist.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, April 25.—Mrs. George Sherwood and son spent the week end with her parents in Wallkill.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCallister of New Paltz have returned home, after visiting for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. E. Mackey.

A social meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Sutton on Wednesday evening, May 1st. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. Edward Powell and son were in Walden last Saturday.

A DOG CAUSES MUCH EXCITEMENT

Constable Reynolds Has Wounded Hands, Joe Cimorelli is in the County Jail, And the Dog's Days Remaining Are Probably Few.

That the path of a dog catcher is not a rosy one was demonstrated on April 22 at Glasco when Constable Victor Reynolds while rounding up dogs without a license had a battle royal with a dog belonging to Joe Cimorelli of Glasco.

As the results of the scrap between Reynolds and the dog, Reynolds has a number of wounds on both hands. Cimorelli is in the Ulster county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury, and the dog is being held somewhere in a place of detention where all dogs apprehended without a license are kept.

They say every dog has his day but it seems quite probable that the rest of the days of Cimorelli's dog are limited in number.

The case presents some interesting and novel points of law, and a large crowd attended the preliminary examination of Cimorelli held at Saugerties Wednesday afternoon before Justice of the Peace W. M. Chidester.

Cimorelli is represented by Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr.; Benjamin Rowe of Saugerties represents Reynolds.

The charge preferred against Cimorelli is assault in the second degree. Mr. Brinnier contended that there was nothing in the alleged facts in the case to substantiate this charge, as the defendant had not personally, either with or without a weapon, assaulted Reynolds.

Rowe claimed that the words, "Eat him up, Jack," alleged to have been said by the defendant to his dog, constituted the basis for the second degree assault charge.

Harry Gilmore, who was assisting Reynolds in catching dogs, claimed that he was also bitten by the same dog, but not seriously. He admitted on the stand that he was bitten before Reynolds was, and before the remarks of "Eat him up, Jack," were uttered by the defendant to his dog.

Mr. Brinnier contended that inasmuch as Gilmore, another party to the alleged transaction, had admitted that he was bitten before Reynolds was and before the alleged instructions given by defendant to his dog; that this was one of the grounds for a dismissal of the complaint.

Mr. Brinnier also asked for a dismissal upon the grounds that from the information it appeared that there had not been any crime of assault of second degree committed by the defendant.

The court refused the request for the dismissal. The court also at first, because no commitment papers could be found, refused Mr. Brinnier's request to commit the defendant at once so that bail could be made out.

Mr. Rowe opposed this request and then Mr. Brinnier insisted that the commitment be made out and the defendant delivered to the sheriff of Ulster county for the purpose of taking an appeal or for the purpose of giving bail before the county court of Ulster.

The commitment papers were finally made out and Constable Reynolds started to get in a car with the defendant to bring him to the county jail here. For some reason the court then wanted to reopen the case and said that the defendant could be brought to Kingston the next morning.

A lively controversy on the sidewalk was the result of the court's latest ruling, and the situation was taken in by a large crowd of spectators.

Eventually the court said that Constable Reynolds could start then and bring the defendant to the county jail. Surely one dog caused much excitement, and then some.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, April 25.—The Willing Workers will meet at the home of Mrs. Ben. Burger on Saturday afternoon, May 4.

Mrs. Gertrude Osterhoudt spent Friday with Mrs. F. Zeaman. Leroy Baker has nearly completed his improvements to his residence and also garage.

Mrs. John J. Wood and Mrs. Jane Osterhoudt spent Thursday with Mrs. Jesse Osterhoudt.

The Rev. Mr. Frost and Sanford Cross were in this place securing Liberty Bonds.

A Bedesky will soon commence his improvements to his house. Recent purchases of Tom, Conner, A. Van Etten, Stanley Keider and Charles D. Osterhoudt, carpenters.

The Rev. R. C. Miller of Albany made several calls in this place on Monday.

A patriotic entertainment for the benefit of the Red Cross will be given by the school children of the district under the training and direction of their teacher, Miss Lena Dick, on Friday evening, May 10, at the school house. Refreshments of ice cream and cake will be served at the close of the entertainment at 15 cents per plate. Everybody invited to attend. A fine program has been arranged which will appear in a later issue of The Freeman. Everyone come and enjoy themselves and listen to the children speak and sing, and thereby help swell the sum for the Red Cross, to help our sick and wounded soldiers on the battlefields of France.

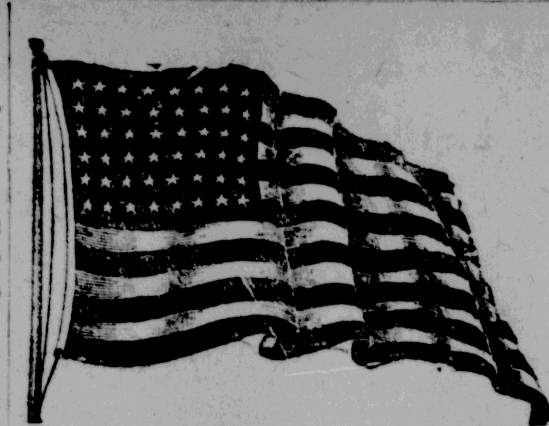

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Enderly of Poughkeepsie spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chrisey and family.

Mrs. Eli Osterhoudt and Miss Ray Markle enjoyed a pleasant motor trip to Ellenville last Wednesday.

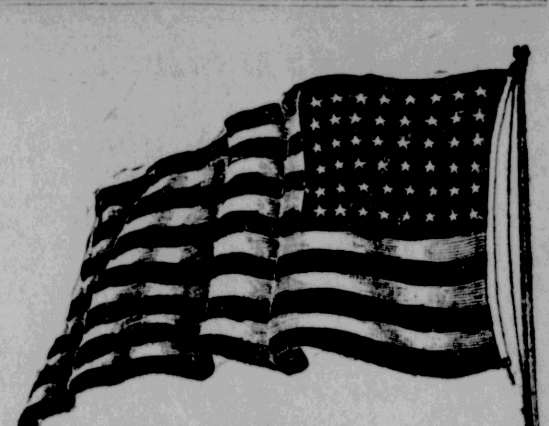

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Miller were callers in Nanapanoch on Saturday last. The Rev. Mr. Frost and James Lounsberry were selling bonds for the Third Liberty Loan through town on Tuesday.

Jesse Osterhoudt was taken violently ill at Ellenville on Friday of last week with a severe attack of indigestion. He was brought by car to his home on Saturday and is slowly regaining his health.

Mrs. A. Bedesky has received

Kingston's Thrift Store

On With the Third Liberty Loan!

There is no turning back—we must conquer!

Already American blood has been spilt. Casualty lists come nearer home in fact have already touched Kingston. THERE IS NO LONGER TURNING BACK; WE MUST GO STRAIGHT ON. And remember that the more money there is for the Government, the less will be the sacrifice and the quicker the finish of this dreadful scourge.

Buy a Liberty Bond—fellow citizens—as many as you can. Each is another step toward peace and the end of the war!

Do it To-morrow—Don't Wait!

You are asked to spend wisely—to buy only the things honestly needed to maintain your health and efficiency. This is intelligent thrift. The Government asks it of you as a war measure :

Bonds Are Not A Burden, But A Blessing

Thrift requires the exercise of restraint and self-denial—qualities without which you cannot achieve the success in life which it is your ambition to achieve and for the lack of which you are likely to suffer in later years.

The money you acquire by thrift you are asked to loan—not give—to your country. It will come back to you when you may need it far more than you do now, and you will be paid interest for its use.

This war is a frightful thing, but it may prove of inestimable benefit to us all, if it teaches the good habit of thrift.

"The Ground Gripper" SURGICAL SHOE

Is the Original Muscle Developing Health Shoe

COMFORT FOR ALL FEET

As a rule, changes in orthopedic shoeing are brought about by the slow process of evolution, and the conservative physician is never willing to make a radical change from the old method to the new until the advantages of the new have been firmly established by years of trial.

In the application of our "GROUND GRIPPER" shoe, the right conditions have been met, and the rapidity with which it is being adopted by eminent medical men proves it to be an assured success. In presenting some of the features of our "GROUND GRIPPER" shoe, we feel that we are calling your attention to one of the most important necessities of life.

Doctors have spent much of their time trying to find a shoe that would take the place of MECHANICAL appliances or ARTIFICIAL SUPPORTS, such as PLATES or STEEL SHANKS, commonly called "props for the feet," which are so rigid and unyielding that they WEAKEN instead of STRENGTHEN the muscles of the feet.

Everyone who enjoys walking, or has to stand on their feet most of the time, will find this shoe a source of rest, and a practical cure for foot troubles.

Authentic Bronte Relic.

An interesting relic of Charlotte Bronte, the novelist, has been presented to the museum at Haworth, England. It is a traveling trunk used by Charlotte Bronte. Inside is a label giving the maker's name and address in Brussels, and there is little doubt the trunk accompanied Charlotte on her journeys between Monsieur Heger's Pensionnat in the Rue d'Isabelle in that city, and her home at the Haworth rectory.

ACCORD BOY SCOUTS AID LIBERTY LOAN

The newly organized troop of Boy Scouts of Accord will get busy next Saturday morning for a week of strenuous campaigning to secure subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan. They will raise their tent, lately purchased for the troop, on the main street of Accord, and have a display within of posters, war pictures, pamphlets and books, with scouts in charge to show the exhibit. Application blanks for subscriptions will be on hand and the Scouts will be ready to explain to every one the advantages of investment in the big war loan.

The Boy Scouts of the nation raised over $100,000,000 during the second loan campaign, and greatly pleased President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo by this splendid showing. This time they mean to go far ahead of their previous record, and the Accord boys are intending to do their full share.

President Wilson has sent a special letter to the chief scout executive of the nation, urging the Scouts to help to the very utmost of their ability. The week from April 27 to May 4 has been assigned for the campaign, when the Scouts are to "glean after the reapers," making a house-to-house canvass of sections which the adult committees have been unable to cover, and securing additional subscriptions, whether large or small, from men who have already invested, but wish to give added help to the soldier boys through the Scouts in the closing days of the campaign.

The Accord boys plan to take their tent to Kerhonkson for one or two evenings, and aid in the work there, as there are no other troops nearby to do the work, and the chairman of the men's committee, John Van Kleeck, has invited the boys to render this service.

Every boy will have with him the proof of his authority to take bond applications (receiving no money whatever), in the shape of his Scout badge, and his pocket certificate from Scout Headquarters.

The boys will meet for final discussion of the campaign, at their rooms in Henry DeVoe's building, at 7 o'clock Friday evening of this week. Boys of the Allgerville troop who wish to work in campaign, are cordially invited to come also, and in case the Allgerville organization is not continued, to join the troop at Accord. Every boy who sells ten or more bonds will receive from the government a fine medal in recognition of his services in helping to save the lives of our soldiers and maintain the freedom of America.

The names of the boys who belong to the Accord troop are as follows: Francis Davenport, Harry Coddington, Haviland Barley, Harry Ford, Archie Lawrence, Abe Angriat, Claude Tappen, Herbert Salter, Lawrence DeVoe, John Myers, Alfred Miller, John Schoonmaker, Harry Lawrence, Maurice Davenport, Leonard Osterhout, William Drake, Raymond Lawrence.

Schoolmasters' Council Meeting.
Hon. Francis M. Hugo, secretary of state for the state of New York, will be the guest of honor at the next meeting of the Schoolmasters' Council of the Highlands at the Hotel Palatine, Newburgh, Friday evening, May 16. Following the dinner will be a presentation of the "Signs of the Times." This address will be of a practical nature and parts of it will deal with the school situation as viewed by the secretary of the Empire State. The usual social feature will begin at 6 o'clock. Dinner, at $1.25 a plate, will be served at 8 o'clock. During the evening a suitable tribute to the memory of former Superintendent Crane of Newburgh will be read. The Saturday morning meeting will be in charge of Superintendent F. L. Smith of Walden, who will report on the proposed plans for co-operating with the Associated Academic Principals in some lines of educational research.

OLIVERIA

Oliveria, April 25.—Assessors Groo and Herdman of Phenicia were in Oliveria Monday assessing property.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy J. Adams of Herkimer are spending a few days with relatives in town. Mr. Adams has been called to report for army service the first of next week.

COMPANY L IS HIGHLY PRAISED

Camp Dix, N. J., April 21.—Just a few lines to let you know I'm still here although never expected to be this long. Have they picked the next bunch to leave Kingston to come down yet? Is Heinie coming down with them? Some of the last that left were over to see us Saturday. Buck Cragin was among them and he sure looks good in a uniform. They all seem to be satisfied with the life.

They are giving silver cups to the company that shows the best talent. All the companies in the 110th were ordered out in the parade grounds Saturday to pitch tents and it's some drilling, all the superior of scores being present to witness it. When it was over they came up to our company commander, Capt. L. W. Card, and highly complimented him on having the best company in the regiment. And you can imagine how our captain and lieutenants felt. They deserve great credit as they work day and night to make good soldiers out of us.

Co. L has the best record in the regiment and we are going to try and hold it.

We are going to try and get the high score at the rifle range, as that means another cup and you can tell the whole world we want the majority of them.

We are going to show what the Ulster county boys can do.

I see where Matthew Madden is over. I never thought he'd heat us over.

PLATTEKILL

A meeting of the Plattekill Red Cross Chapter will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Birdsall Wednesday afternoon, May 1.

Charles Dempsey has closed his blacksmith shop as he will leave for Camp Dix, N. J., next Monday.

Miss Glennie Vager has returned home from the Hospital for Ruptured and Cripples, New York city, greatly improved in strength.

John Tuttle of Leptondale is pressing hay and straw for farmers in this town.

Mrs. Nelson Yeager and son, Robert, were visitors at Mrs. M. Waite's last week.

A dance was given at A. Wesley's one evening last week, and several young people from this place attended.

Mrs. Charles Conine and children from Newburgh spent a few days of last week at M. Garrison's.

L. J. O'REILLY TO SUCCEED STRAUSS

Appointed Commissioner of New York Board of Water Supply—Has Been Connected with W. R. Hearst's Successes For Many Years.

Mayor Hylan on Tuesday announced the appointment of L. J. O'Reilly as a member of the New York Board of Water Supply, to succeed Charles Strauss, who recently resigned.

Commissioner Strauss resigned as a member of the board because, he said, the position was unnecessary because all the work that called the board into existence during the McClellan administration had been accomplished.

In his letter to Mr. O'Reilly, Mayor Hylan stated:

"This administration sent a measure to the Legislature which had for its purpose the abolition of the Board of Water Supply. The Legislature in its judgment saw fit to deny our petition. I have delayed considering the appointment of a successor to Com. Strauss because I had anticipated favorable action by the Legislature. However, since the Legislature did not take any action, I am now confronted with the consideration of a successor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the former chairman of the Board of Water Supply.

"I wish to take this opportunity to ask you to accept the post of commissioner of the Board of Water Supply. If you accept appointment to this office, I wish you would make immediate investigation of the water supply for the city of New York, and give me first-hand information as to the functions, if any, for its continuation.

"I trust that your report will be ready so that it may be submitted for the consideration of the next Legislature. Please be good enough to advise me at an early date if you will accept membership on this board."

For a number of years, Mr. O'Reilly has been private secretary to William R. Hearst and during the various campaigns in which Mr. Hearst has taken part personally, has acted as his political manager. In such work, as well as in his numerous other activities in connection with Mr. Hearst's various business enterprises, Mr. O'Reilly has displayed executive ability which is valuable to Mr. Hearst in an inestimable way. Mr. O'Reilly has a large extent become a figure of national-wide prominence.

New York newspapers announce that there is a revolt within the Tammany organization against the Hearst candidacy for governor which will come into the open if Charles F. Murphy and Hearst should reach a mutually satisfactory understanding. If the New York newspapers correctly interpret the political feeling which centers around Mayor Hylan, Mr. Hearst, Mr. Murphy and the Tammany organization, Mr. O'Reilly's appointment as commissioner of the Board of Water Supply will have greater political significance than that of any of his predecessors. The salary is $12,000 a year.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, April 24.—Members of the Woman's Club entertained in honor of the "Guest Night" at Memorial Hall Friday evening, April 19th. There was a large attendance and it proved to be a very delightful affair. Among the guests were Frank Seaman, Mrs. O. R. Sarre and Miss Rose Cecil O'Neill of Yama Farms. Mrs. Holman, president of the club, welcomed the members and their guests and then the very interesting program as arranged was forward. A piano solo was well rendered by Mrs. W. D. Cunningham. Vocal solos by Mrs. E. B. Kimble and Mrs. John W. Rapp. Mrs. Sarre gave an excellent talk on Red Cross work and the Liberty Loan. The address of the evening was delivered by Judge Cunningham, who was at his best and covered topics that are most vital at this time and was received with very hearty and well merited applause. The ladies served delicious refreshments and they were enjoyed with a pleasant social intercourse. The Memorial Hall where the event was held added charm to the occasion in all its newness. The ladies were wise in selecting such an ideal place for the delightful entertainment that they gave their guests.

Mrs. C. F. Taylor and daughters, the Misses Virginia and Edeline Taylor, entertained a company of friends at their home on Center street Saturday afternoon, April 20, in honor of their sister-in-law, Mrs. George Taylor. With games, music and very dainty refreshments served the ladies spent an enjoyable afternoon together. Mrs. Taylor has received word of the safe arrival of her young husband overseas.

Announcement is made of the Spring Pageant given by the children of the village under the direction of Miss Evelyn R. Bailey, at the high school auditorium on the evening of Wednesday, May 1st.

Word has been received by relatives of the safe arrival of Henry Smith in France.

Horace G. Kimble of New York, spent Sunday with his sister, Miss Ida Kimble.

Mrs. William L. Hoonbeck of Hickory street, has gone for a two weeks' visit with her brother, Chris. Hellwaith and family in Brooklyn.

Floyd Howe of Ellenville, and Harold Gillett of Grahamsville, both valued employees of the Home National Bank, are reported called to the colors.

Thomas McMullen has returned home after being in the government employ for a few weeks in New York.

Highland, April 24.—Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather last Sunday, there were large congregations both morning and evening at the M. E. Church to listen to the Rev. F. A. Coon, the new pastor. This man possesses many excellent qualities. As a man he is mainly in every sense of the word. As a preacher he is careful, clear and forceful in statements, always presenting truth in a manner calculated to favorably impress his hearers.

Mrs. Frederick Bradshaw of Connecticut is visiting relatives here this week.

Captain R. H. Decker spent Monday at Pleasant Valley.

Livingston Rhoades, who has been home a few days on a furlough, joined the Masonic fraternity Monday evening.

Mrs. J. B. Moule, of the Pines, had some Vassar girls to spend the day last Tuesday. These students come to her quite often and greatly enjoy the outing.

We notice some of the housewives are beginning the task of cleaning house and some of the men are making garden and cleaning up around yards. These things make it look more like living.

At the M. E. parsonage Mr. Ferris and Mr. Van Wert are repairing and painting the interior and new carpets will be put down in some rooms and some new furniture put in, so it will be in very good condition, for in the spring it seems there is always so many things to attend to in all our homes to make them comfortable.

Helen Coddington, who has the measles, is improving very nicely and will be able to be out in about a week.

Mrs. Eli Dimsey of Lloyd was in this place on Tuesday doing some shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday in this place with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Atkins and daughter, Ethel, spent the week end at New Paltz with relatives and had a very pleasant time.

Next Wednesday evening the Daughters of America will hold their regular meeting. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

Epworth League Red Cross met as usual last Monday evening. Large number present and all are working earnestly for our boys.

Dr. W. T. Rivenburgh arrived in town Friday evening for a few days furlough.

Rev. G. H. Scofield has been appointed commissioner to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church which will convene at Columbus, O., from 16 to 25 of May. This will be a fine trip for the Reverend.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Amelia Krom, mother of Mrs. Fred Decker, were held Saturday morning last from the M. E. Church of this place, and was attended by relatives and friends, for she had lived here for several years and had many friends and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She had lived with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, most of the time since her husband's death. She had been ill for a long time. Everything that could be done to alleviate her suffering was done. She had a trained nurse for months. Rev. J. C. Coddington officiated at the services, assisted by the Rev. F. A. Coon. There was a fine display of beautiful tributes, showing the esteem in which she was held. The interment was in Highland cemetery under the direction of Undertaker W. E. Wilcox.

Three daughters are left to mourn the loss of a dear mother. Sympathy is extended these people by a wide circle of friends.

Epworth League social, which was held in the M. E. Church parlor, last Friday evening, was a very successful event. Over 50 were in attendance. These people enjoyed games and music. There was a contest on and Gordon Kurtz was the one who won first prize and Ruth Cadwell was second. This made quite some sport and created enthusiasm and rivalry among the young people, which always tends to liven up affairs and at the close it was remarked "Long live the Epworth League as a boon to the church and a blessing to the young people."

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Clearwater, who have spent the winter in Florida, will return to Lake Mohonk for the summer. They expect to have the hotel filled there quite early. It certainly is a delightful, restful spot for one to stay and everyone who goes here speaks in high terms of the management.

A handsome flag has been given to the M. E. Church by the parents of two of our boys who have left for service. Mrs. A. D. Lent and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Maynard. This flag was presented to the church last Sunday at the morning service by Howard E. Wilcox, who made a very nice presentation address—making all feel that the very air is filled with patriotism and all know full well that all are passing through exciting times constantly and we trust it is when the storm of battle blows dark and raging high that the hearts of our American boys may be filled with devoted love of country; that they may go forward with cheers to win the war. The pastor, Rev. F. A. Coon, accepted the flag most beautifully and the sentiments he expressed in this gift, were a pleasure to listen to and made the gift doubly valuable to the church and after hearing his words all felt that they should give themselves in loving service and ever be ready to sacrifice for the right and act with justice toward all.

Sergeant Livingston Rhoades, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhoades, who is stationed at Camp Gordon, Georgia, arrived home last Saturday noon for a few days furlough. He is feeling well but looked tired out. He left here for Walden in the afternoon for a visit with Miss DeKay, his "bride-to-be." His stay here was very short. He left on Tuesday noon and carried with him the best wishes of his loved ones and a host of friends who hope that soon the boys may return to their homes and the cruel war cease; this every one is longing for.

Principal E. A. Marsh of the high school here, talked on the Liberty Loan question on Sunday evening last in the M. E. Church. He is well posted on the subject and every one was certainly greatly pleased to received a postal from their son, Herbert, who was certainly greatly pleased to heard him and he certainly gave what we would call a masterpiece.

Red Cross people at the M. E. Church parlor after the work Monday evening had refreshments and to say we all enjoyed them would be putting it light for I just tell you the salad and other good things, along with the soft drinks, were really appreciated.

The oyster supper on Wednesday evening was well attended and every thing was first class in the stable line as is always the case with these auxiliary people's suppers. There was good music during the repast and a fine social time was enjoyed by all. Patriotism was shown in the decorations and a fine sum was realized to put in the treasury of the M. E. Church.

Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, on Milton avenue, a very pretty wedding occurred when their daughter, Miss Florence, was united in marriage to George Huson of Towners. The bride looked lovely in a white silk gown with handsome bead trimmings. She is a favorite among her friends. They left for a short wedding trip and have not yet returned as they are to reside. Rev. F. W. Coon performed the ceremony. Congratulations from a host of friends are in order.

SOUTH RONDOUT.
South Rondout, April 25.—Christian Endeavor was led by the pastor on Sunday evening.

Cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Isaac Hotelling on Thursday night.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Aid at the home of Mrs. Isaac Hotelling on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Edwin Cole was called to Saugerties on account of the death of John Schultz, Sr.

Joseph Mauer and sister, Kathryn, and Miss Margaret Lloyd went Sunday to see their brother, Lawrence, at Camp Upton.

George Bigler and Miss Anna Schaffer of Kingston were married in St. Peter's Church on Monday at 11 o'clock. The attendant's were Miss Susie Schaffer and George Crough. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride on Greenkill avenue. The bride received many useful presents. They left in an automobile for Passaic, N. J. On their return they will reside in South Rondout.

Mr. and Mrs. John Meyers have received a postal from their son, Herbert, who was certainly greatly pleased to CLINTONDALE.

Clintondale, April 25.—The meetings held at the Friends' Church April 18 and 19, with Principal W. J. Reagan of Oakwood Seminary, and Walter Dexter of Penn. College, principal speakers, were a pronounced success. Their addresses on Christian character and the relation of the Christian to the well being of the children and youth of the community were practical and inspiring. The meeting for the fathers and the sons, held at the Friends' Church, with Mr. Dexter as speaker, and at the M. E. Church for mothers and daughters, with Principal Reagan as speaker, Sunday afternoon, were well attended by an appreciative audience, who went away with many new and inspiring thoughts as to their duties and responsibilities.

Our school principal, assisted by three faithful pupils Walter Beatty, Earl Dobert and Rodney Shields, put their basketball goals and other apparatus in shape. The pupils now are awaiting special instructions from our physical instructor.

Nathan Ackhart, who has been at the hospital for some time receiving treatment for appendicitis, is again home.

The pupils of our school are rehearsing for an entertainment, consisting of humorous dialogues with patriotic drills, tableaux and songs. The proceeds will be for the Junior Red Cross. The date will be announced next week.

The orchardists of this vicinity are busy spraying their fruit trees.

CITY LEASES PARK AT KINGSTON POINT

The board of public works at a special session held Wednesday afternoon accepted the offer of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company and have leased Kingston Point Park for the season the lease expiring October 1, with the privilege of renewing it for five years at the expiration of the lease. Under the terms of the lease the trolley road will furnish the electricity to light the park and run the merry-go-round. The city pays the trolley road $1,000 for the use of the pavilion and docks and $1 for the use of the merry-go-round. It is expected that band music may be a feature this summer at the point.

The board took no action on the ordinance regulating the parking of automobiles on certain of the city streets, and it will probably come up for action at another meeting later.

EDDYVILLE.

Eddyville, April 25.—Mrs. Alice Sheldahl and son, Arthur, together with her mother, Mrs. Edmond, all of Port Ewen, motored to Eddyville on Saturday evening last and called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hines.

Arthur J. LeFevre of Newburgh, formerly of this place, called on friends here on Tuesday of last week. Eugene Schick, who has been ill for the past six weeks, being threatened with typhoid fever, has improved rapidly under the care of Dr. Rymph of Bloomington, and is able to walk out. We are all glad to see Gene around again.

Augustus Knapp of West Point is enjoying a week's furlough at his home here.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the M. E. Church was held at the home of John S. Roosa on Friday evening. The following officers were elected: Nicholas Bode, president; James Neila, treasurer; Edging Long-year, secretary.

Owing to the inclement weather there were no services in the M. E. Church on Sunday last.

Mrs. Knapp, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Orr, left today for New York city, where they will spend a few days.

Miss Stuart gave a demonstration in the interest of food conservation at the school house on Thursday afternoon of last week. She was accompanied by Miss Emily Burnett, superintendent of the second district of Ulster county. There was a goodly number out; still a large number missed it.

ARE YOU HELPING CLEAN-UP?

WAR'S GRIM TOOLS SHOWN IN EXHIBIT

Weapons of Destruction Speed Liberty Bond Sale in New York City.

Liberty Land in the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory in New York city continues to attract thousands of people, who visit it daily to see the collection of war relics and war materials, most of which were sent directly from France and England by their respective governments to the Liberty Loan Committee for the express purpose of arousing interest in the Third Liberty Loan.

Undoubtedly the most interesting thing in the British Official Exhibit is the fragment of one of the Zeppelins shot down during a disastrous expedition to bomb London. The twisted and warped four foot fragment of one of the aluminum struts connecting the framework of the big airship is a powerful argument in itself of the cost of the things that the country needs for its successful struggle to make the world a decent place to live in.

In another part of the exhibit is one of the German Fokker airplanes, and its placard states that it was shot down in the course of an air raid over London. The imagination is thrilled by a view of it and the knowledge that one of the last things its pilot saw before falling to his death was the big city beneath him torn by the bombs which he had released for the indiscriminate destruction of the noncombatants below him.

In line with this is a series of airplane bombs, ranging in size from those not much bigger than a man's fist to those as large as a well grown boy. Each of them is equipped with steel wings so that the bomb will land point foremost.

Four French "seventy-fives," "war worn in the fight for Liberty," form a grim battery that faces the spectator as he enters the big hall. One of them has been struck by a high explosive shell, which ripped the steel jacket from the barrel of the cannon as though it had been wet paper.

On three sides of the hall are double rows of enlarged official photographs taken on the French, Italian and British fronts. They give an intimate view of German prisoners, life on the big British dreadnaughts, scenes in the trenches, soldiers at play and a thousand and one other equally interesting and absorbing subjects. Real photographs, these, with every detail clear, every feature standing out.

Liberty Land will last till May 4. Tickets can be obtained free at Liberty Loan booths and throughout various organizations in the city or through the Liberty Loan Committee at 120 Broadway, New York.

Over the Top

LIBERTY LOAN LIMERICKS.

There was an old miser named Peas
Whose income he never went beyond.
But giving the devil
His due, on the level,
OLD PEAS BOUGHT A LIBERTY BOND!

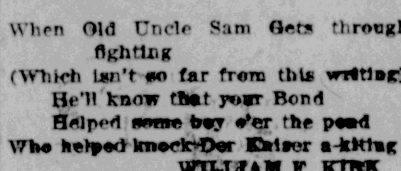

There was an old spinster named Wall
Who had sighed for a husband to call,
But decided to own
Some Bonds in the Loan
Which was better than no bonds at all!

There was an old soldier named Gunn
Who had fought like a fiend at Bull
Ran.
When his pension arrived
The old boy contrived
To purchase two Bonds and a bun.

Perhaps saving money's not pleasant,
But the Bonds you are buying at present
Will put a big dent
In the crown of some gent
And make a free man of some peasant!

When Old Uncle Sam Gets through
fighting
(Which isn't so far from this writing)
He'll know that your Bond
Helped some boy over the pond
Who helped knock the Kaiser a-kiting!

PEASANT UNAFRAID OF SHELLS

Frenchwoman Clings to Home Despite Bombardment.

An old peasant woman sat at the door of her little cottage beside a road near the front in France. A shell had gone through the roof of the cottage, and there was only one room she could occupy. When there was a bombardment she retired to the cellar.

A party of Americans visiting the front passed, and one of them asked the old woman why she stayed there.

"It is my home," she replied, "and I am too old to go away. Besides, my son will come back some day, and I have to keep the home for him. He is in the army now."

Americans, buy bonds of the Third Liberty Loan and keep your homes for your sons.

Land Battleship in Hoboken, N. J., Going After Liberty Loan Dollars

This is the official picture of Hoboken's Liberty Loan battleship, the "Liberty." It started from the upper end of the city April 6, the opening day of the Third Liberty Loan, and is moving down town a certain distance for every thousand dollars subscribed. The city hall is its goal, and that goal will be attained when Hoboken goes "over the top" and obtains its quota of approximately $4,500,000.

The battleship is 66 feet long and weighs more than ten tons. Its decks can hold more than 60 persons. The gun, mounted 16 nine-inch guns, in miniature, and two fifteen-inch guns, are on the upper end. At night it is illuminated by hundreds of red, white and blue electric lights and flashlight. It moves by its own motive power. John Ferguson was the builder. The ship was designed by Henry G. Avery.

LYONSVILLE.

Lyonsville, April 25.—Harold and Lester Davis of Krumsville have been pressing hay for some of the farmers in this place.

Egbert Elmendorf of Stone Ridge passed through this place on Wednesday.

Mrs. S. A. Krom is in at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Trowbridge.

Dr. Sherman of Stone Ridge is the attending physician.

April has borrowed a few days of March, according to the blustery weather we are having in April.

Orr Christiansa, who has been ill, we are glad to say, is better.

Jacob Krom of Mettlicabouhs called at the home of his mother, Mrs. M. Krom, on Rose Hill.

Farmers have not been very busy sowing oats on account of the stormy, cold weather.

Fred D. Oakley spent Tuesday at Kingston.

Mr. Gawley, our mail carrier, is very glad to have better roads again.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 25, 1918.

The German gunner who shouted, "Donner und blitzen!" It's the American! when he saw a storming party of marines who had landed on the Mohr at Zeebrugge Monday night probably expressed the feeling which underlies a large part of the German fighting force. The landing force was composed of British marines, not American, but the exploit was so daring, so unusual to the German mind, so different from methods of warfare in which the German is accustomed, that the gunner in question had every reason to believe that America's entrance in the war and the landing of an army in France would be accompanied by some feat involving unusual risk. To the German mind, however, as strongly placed as those at the Zeebrugge Mohr should be safe from even the thought of attack, and one might as well think of capturing the Kaiser as to land an attacking party on territory so well protected by land batteries and mine fields. German officials have belittled American man power and efforts and to a certain degree have succeeded in creating the impression that American forces cannot be matched successfully against the trained troops of the Kaiser. Germans are well enough acquainted with America, however, to realize fully what Americans are capable of doing. It is up to America to make good and the American fighting forces are anxious to make a record for themselves if they are given a chance. The magnitude of the task requires that our fighting force shall be sufficiently large and well trained to go ahead to a finish fight when the American movement once gets underway. The British raid on Ostend and Zeebrugge would be worthy of American effort and when once American forces get to work will undoubtedly be duplicated or excelled. The main thing now is to have a large enough, properly equipped force to do efficient work in the fighting line.

Readjustment of industry to meet war conditions and placing it on a practical war basis has been pointed out from time to time but accomplishment is far from being systematic and greater governmental control will be necessary to make certain that the things required for winning the war will be rapidly produced with a minimum of dislocation of the industrial machine. The committee of the American Economic Association, which has been investigating the purchasing power of money in relation to war has made public its second report in which the situation is thus concisely stated: "The war necessitated a sudden change in the direction of our industrial activity. We have to shift millions of men and billions of capital to new tasks. That shift must be made in the shortest possible time. Yet we must keep the essential peacetime work from becoming demoralized." Ordinarily the offering of profitable prices redirects industry and that plan was followed by the Allies for three years. Our own entrance in the war was followed by the same plan but in many lines it was found there were not enough men or materials to go around and delays threatening our military efficiency resulted. These difficulties have all been industrial, not financial. Government regulation has been attempted with success, but only with materials, but if systematization is to be carried out successfully, authority must be given to some individual or board to determine what industries are essential and through such regulation, it is believed, a proper readjustment of industrial conditions will follow. Men continue to follow their natural bent of mechanical ingenuity and are attracted by the prices paid for labor which they are capable of performing. While this is a slow process and much efficiency is lost, unless there is conservation of labor, the same as for military service, it seems the most feasible of any plan suggested.

Conservation of wool, which will enable soldier and civilian to have more of it in his clothes can be effected in part by cutting out useless frills in men's apparel, and a warning issued to the seven hundred and fifty members of the National Association of Woolen Textile of America is expected to be followed by a change in the style of clothing worn by men. There are few frills that men wear.

the masculine mind preferring simplicity always, and it is only the insistence of tailors that has made the maker rather than the wearer of clothing the arbiter of fashion. The embellishments against which the merchant tailors are warned include belts on coats, cuffs on sleeves and a few similar adornments which tailors generally insist adds "distinctive" to clothing. Possibly the tailors are right, but there is not a red-blooded American man who would not willingly sacrifice distinctiveness in order to conserve wool. As in other things on which we have been effecting a saving, the individual saving is slight but the aggregate makes the saving worth while. Elimination of embellishments was pointed out as necessary some time ago by the Commercial Economy Board of the Council of National Defense, and the average clothing manufacturer and the average consumer are willing to abide by the advice of the board. The tailors of women's clothing also claim to be economizing in the use of cloth, but their economy relates principally to the amount of material used for the main garment and apparently does not take in consideration the embellishments and frills. Simplicity is the first essential in saving. Despite freakish styles which have appeared periodically for many years, the greatest beauty is found in the simple styles of the Greeks which were marked by their simplicity.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Pa, what causes heat and cold?"
 "The janitor, my son."—Boston Transcript.

She—"I can't accept your affection."
 He—"I'll be just as well satisfied if you will return it."—Baltimore American.

"Cheer up, old man. Everything comes to him who waits, you know."
 "Yes, I know, but it will be just my luck to be waiting at the wrong place."—Judge.

"Did that efficiency sharp address your club the other night?"
 "No, he prepared the address, but he came around one day late. Made a mistake in the date." "Was anybody there?" "No. But that made no difference. He forgot to bring his address with him."—Life.

"How can he afford to give his services to the government for a dollar a year?" "That isn't what's worrying me." "What is?" "I'd like to know how the government can pay him a dollar a year for his services without getting the worst of the bargain."—Detroit Free Press.

Standing on His Rights.
 "Why did you strike this man?" asked the judge sternly.
 "He called me a liar, Your Honor," replied the accused.
 "Is that true?" asked the judge, turning to the man with the muzzled up face.
 "Sure it's true," said the accused.
 "I called him a liar because he is one, and I can prove it."
 "What have you got to say to that?" asked the judge of the defendant.
 "It's got nothing to do with the case, Your Honor," was the unexpected reply. "Even if I am a liar I guess I've got a right to be sensitive about it, ain't I?"—Topeka State Journal.

Realism.
 It was at the movies. An old couple sat together through a picture that included many views of the White West. In one of these a cattle "round up" appeared, in which the dust rose in clouds from the parched ground. The old lady began to cough and finally when the neighbors began to fidget, her husband nudged her with his elbow: "Don't cough, Annie; can't you see you're disturbing the folks?"

His wife looked at him apologetically over her handkerchief, another spasm. "I can't help it, Ephraim. The dust tickles my throat."—Everybody's Magazine.

It Pays to Advertise.
 "Walter," said the indignant customer, "what does this mean? Yesterday I was served for the same price with a portion of chicken twice the size of this."
 "Yes, sir," answered the waiter.
 "Where did you sit, sir?"
 "Over by the window."
 "Then that accounts for it. We always give people who sit by the windows large portions. It's an advertisement."—New York Evening Post.

What Became of Her.
 "What became of the Yordle girl who was ambitious for a stage career?"
 "She turned out much better than her friends expected."
 "You don't mean to tell me she's starring now?"
 "No, indeed. She's the mother of six children and has a husband who doesn't run around at night."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Mazola—the Wonderful Oil From Corn

—is a Cooking Medium Easy to Use—

Pure and Economical

Food economy after all gets down to a question of food preparation. Cooked one way a food may be costly and scarcely fit to eat. Cooked another way it is delicious and economical.

Mazola, the pure oil pressed from the heart of Indian Corn, is showing the way to better cooking at less cost.

It makes wonderfully light, crisp, wholesome pastries, fried and sautéed dishes and allows foods to retain their natural flavor.

Since Mazola is a vegetable oil it enables you to help save animal fats—butter, lard, suet.

Economical because it can be used again and again until every drop is gone—does not transmit the flavor or odor of one food to another.

Mazola is the perfect salad oil, too—gives a delicious tang and is much easier to mix than olive oil.

For sale in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons. For greater economy buy the large sizes.

There is a valuable Cook Book for Mazola users. It shows you how to fry, sauté, make dressings and sauces more delicious, make light, digestible pastry. Should be in every home. Send for it or ask your grocer. FREE.

Fried Chicken

1 young chicken
 1 cup Mazola
 1 cup flour
 1 cup milk
 1 teaspoonful of salt
 1/2 teaspoonful of pepper
 1 tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley

Wash, clean and joint chicken—dust with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Put half of Mazola into large iron pan which must be very hot; add chicken and sear on both sides very quickly. Add a little more Mazola if needed; cover pan and cook on back of stove where it will cook slowly for 30 minutes. Turn once or twice. A little water can be added to keep it from sticking or getting hard. When tender, add milk; remove cover and let it simmer 10 minutes. There will be two cups of good rich gravy.
 Or chicken can be breaded, and fried in deep hot Mazola.

AMERICAN MARINES FIGHT AT THE FRONT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, April 25.—American marines are at last in the trenches in France. This became known today when relatives were notified that Corporal Chester W. Ruth, of Cleveland, Ohio, has been wounded in action. No list of marine casualties has yet been made public by the navy department later announced this will be remedied and that the list of casualties in the corps to date will be made public late today. Recently Representative Britton of Illinois complained in the House that the Marine Corps was being kept out of action because of the jealousy of the army.

It is understood that the Marines in France who form a part of General Pershing's forces were sent into the trenches at a certain sector on March 25 and since that time have been doing their share along with the army.

It is understood that the Marines have been in the very thick of the fighting and that their casualties are comparatively heavy. It was learned that the list of killed and wounded have been coming into the navy department for a week but that publication of them was withheld pending decision as to just how they would be handled. It is understood that hereafter they will be included in the same manner as the army lists and that they will not be included in the army announcements.

HEAR PATRIOTIC ADDRESS

Meeting of Metropolitan War Savings Society Held Wednesday Evening.

What Kingston is doing in the present great war for freedom and democracy, and what Kingston did in the Civil War was reviewed in an interesting patriotic address made Wednesday evening by Charles T. Contant at the meeting of the Metropolitan War Savings Society. He spoke of the hearty response of Kingston residents to the various financial appeals and predicted that Kingston would go "over the top" in the third Liberty Loan. E. R. Alford, president of the society, reported that the society had bought $1,000 worth of thrift stamps in the last two weeks. Addresses were made by P. D. Beatty and Michael A. Meagher.

At Kingston City Hospital.

Mrs. Snyder was removed from 325 Lucas avenue late Wednesday afternoon to the Kingston City Hospital in the city ambulance.

CROSSING INQUEST NOT FINISHED

The inquest that Coroner Ernest A. Kelly is holding to place the responsibility for the accident on the Broadway crossing early on the morning of March 4, when a West Shore train crashed in a Kingston trolley car, resulting in the death of three men from injuries sustained, and injuring fifteen, will be resumed at the court house at 2 o'clock the afternoon of May 30.

Condition of the Trolley Car.
Thomas McNellis and William Kline, mechanics employed by the trolley company, testified relative to the condition of the trolley car after the crash.

McNellis said that the power was shut off and that the brakes were set. Kline said that the power was shut off, but he did not know whether the brakes were set or not.

Condition of Gates.
Acton Ellinger, who has charge of the gates at the Broadway crossing from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m., stated that it took about five seconds to lower the gates and seven seconds to raise them.

The gates were in normal condition the day before and the mechanism was working all right after the crash, although of course, the downtown gates were broken.

He was in the Hotel Elmer when he heard the crash. He did not see the train or the trolley until after the crash.

When he first looked out the west gates were down; the gate towards the freight house was up, with the point broken off. The gate bell in the tower he thought was in normal condition.

The other bell (the bell which rings when the train is due in three or four minutes, this bell being rung automatically by wire connection with the track) was working normally.

As far as he knew Moore's (the gatekeeper who was on at the time of the crash) eyesight and hearing was normal.

The gatekeepers had no definite instructions about just when to lower the gates, excepting that they should lower them in "ample time."

Testimony of Mr. Delaplane.
William D. Delaplane, general yardmaster here, testified that all trains were prohibited from going over the crossing at over ten miles an hour.

The speed limit in the yard was thirty miles an hour, but as far as he knew there was no provision or order as to just when the engineer would have to slow up just before making the crossing, to reduce the speed to ten miles.

All gatekeepers were examined when they were hired, and if their eyesight and hearing was rated as first class they would be examined again in two years, and if their rating was not first class they would have to be examined again every year.

Monroe had always seemed to be capable in his work. He had been with the railroad for over twenty years, and had been employed as gatekeeper in that tower for about six months.

Other Testimony Given.
Jesse DeWitt, a local butcher, was a passenger on the trolley car. He did not pay much attention to what happened on the trip up and about the first thing that he remembered was when he found himself on the ground after the crash.

John E. Davis was on the scene about ten minutes after the crash, but could give no definite testimony.

QUARRYVILLE.
Quarryville, April 25.—Miss Mary Hornung celebrated her birthday last Saturday by entertaining a few of her friends.

Jesse Post and Clarence O'Brien have secured a position on the steamers of the Saginaw Line.

Mrs. Edgar Smith and son have returned to their home in Albany.

Mrs. Frank Valkenburg and Mrs. Melissa Teetsell have gone to Schenectady for the summer.

Mrs. George Reiber has returned home from her visit in New York City.

Mrs. Albert Brant is visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Quick.

Our public school will give an entertainment in the hall Friday evening of this week. Proceeds for the Red Cross. Everybody go and help a worthy cause.

Despite the rain there was a goodly crowd to Sunday school and preaching service Sunday. As usual we listened to a helpful sermon.

William Wolven has gone to his daughter's at Saugerties for the summer.

High School P. T. Association.

The Federated Council of the Parent-Teachers' Association met with the parents and teachers of the high school students at the high school on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to form a Parent-Teachers' Association.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. P. J. Galliger, president of the Federated Council, with Mrs. W. R. Anderson, secretary pro tem.

The meeting was then given in charge of Mrs. R. E. Leighton. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. P. J. Galliger; first vice president, Mrs. David Gill, Jr.; second vice president, Mrs. Marguerite Cortes; secretary, Mrs. Tracy Tillson; treasurer, Mrs. J. S. Rooda. It was decided to hold meetings the third Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m., with the exception of the May meeting, which will be held the second Wednesday in May.

Out on Bail.
Joe Cimoroli of Glasco, who was committed to the county jail Wednesday night to await the action of the grand jury upon a charge of assault of second degree, was released today on $500 bail, the bond being furnished by an Italian friend of Cimoroli. It is alleged that Cimoroli struck his dog on Constable Victor Reynolds of Saugerties, when he attempted to capture the dog, which it is alleged was not licensed.

LIBERTY BALLY NETTED $5,000

S. C. Benson of New York Talks on "Back From Hell" at Woodstock Wednesday Resulted in Sale of That Amount in Liberty Bonds.

A Liberty Loan rally that would with the sale of $5,000 worth of Liberty Bonds and about $100 worth of Thrift Stamps was the record set by Woodstock Wednesday evening at the meeting held in Firemen's Hall in that village which was addressed by Samuel C. Benson of New York.

E. L. Chase is chairman of the Liberty Loan committee in that village and the other on the committee are Judge Elwyn, Miss Alice Owen and Lester Sagendorf. They arranged the meeting and after considerable trouble secured Mr. Benson from the Liberty Loan Committee of the city.

The rally, which was widely advertised by the means of posters and the hall was crowded when Mr. Benson began to talk.

Mr. Benson is a Red Cross worker and has served in the trenches in Belgium. His talk was "Back From Hell" and was one of the best addresses ever given in that county.

So good was his talk that one man who had only expected to take out a $50 bond purchased $500 in bonds.

The committee in Woodstock are wide awake and expect Woodstock to go over the top in raising its quota.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 25.—The stock market lagged at the opening today, with many issues not traded in for some time. Price changes were extremely narrow. After the first quarter of an hour, a number of specialties became active and strong. Distillers Securities moving up over one point to 5 1/4, and Gulf States Steel showed a gain of 2 1/2 points to 11 1/2.

International Paper rose one point to 4 1/4. Inspiration was 5 1/4 higher at 3 1/4. The standard issues were neglected. Steel Common sold 1/2 lower at 43 1/2, moving up in a few minutes to 44 1/2. Marine preferred yielded to 3 7/8, and Anaconda, after selling down 1/2 to 6 3/4, regained its loss. Liberty 3 1/2's were in demand at 99.92, while the 4's sold at 98.74.

Price movements were irregular all through the forenoon with many specialties showing activity. The market was generally lower. Distillers moved up 2 points to 5 1/4, and advances of around one point were made by American Can, Ohio Cities Gas, Inspiration Copper and American Cotton Oil.

The stock market was quiet in the afternoon with the tone irregular. Distillers Securities was in supply at 9 1/4, then moved up to 9 1/2, and reacted again to 9 1/4. Reading reacted 1/2 to 31. American Telephone was exceptionally weak, dropping 1 1/2 to 98 1/2.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.
Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Private Charles T. Ashby, who died in Monday at a hospital in Jersey City of pneumonia, will be held from the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Ashby, No. 18 Ponchockie street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and at 2:30 o'clock from the Ponchockie Union Church. The interment will be in Montrose cemetery.

The young man was a member of Company A, 69th U. S. Infantry, 5th Division.

Judge Granville M. Ingalsbe, for many years one of the best known lawyers in Northern New York, died several days ago at his home at Hudson Falls, aged 71 years.

Judge Ingalsbe had a number of friends in this city. He was one of the organizers and at one time president of the New York State Historical Association and was instrumental in bringing the association to Kingston for its annual meeting in 1911.

He was a quiet and retiring disposition and possessed the confidence of many wealthy clients in the section of the state where he lived. His education was received at Union College, Schenectady, and the Harvard Law School. He served as surrogate of Washington county and for a number of years was president of the Sandy Hill National Bank.

Tons of Maple Sugar.
The output of maple sugar in the Province of Quebec is about 14,500,000 pounds per annum.

TWO RUNAWAY BOYS SLEPT IN BOX CARS

Joseph Buboltz and Stephen Gardeskie of Third Avenue Tired of School—One Sent to Protective, Other on Probation.

Missing from home since Tuesday morning Stephen Gardeskie, 12 years old, of Third avenue, and Joseph Buboltz, 17 1/2 Third avenue, were picked up downtown about 4 o'clock this morning. Stephen was found asleep in a box car on Ferry street by Officers Healey and Lawrence, while young Buboltz was found in a doorway on the Strand by Officer Healey.

Both boys showed that they had not been home in some time for their faces looked as though they had not bathed in a week, and when they started to cry when arraigned in children's court the tears made white streaks down their dirty faces.

The Buboltz boy was arrested on a warrant sworn out Wednesday by his mother, who said her child was ungovernable and she could do nothing with him. Both Mrs. Buboltz and her husband were in court this morning and wanted the boy sent away.

Judge Schirck committed him to the New York Catholic Protective in Westchester county.

Young Gardeskie was also missing since Tuesday morning. His mother wanted the boy given a chance and he was placed on probation for six months with the warning that if he did not behave he would be sent to the Protective.

SOCIETY NOTES.
Mr. and Mrs. Ward Buley were given a surprise party Wednesday evening by a number of their friends at their new home in Sleightsburgh. There were fifteen couples present.

Games were played and refreshments were served. The party broke up at an early hour. The guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Buley much happiness in their new home.

Atharhachon Club.
The Atharhachon Club met for the last time this season, at the home of the president, Miss Lillias Nelson, on Main street, on Wednesday afternoon. Following the serving of light refreshments, officers were elected to serve next year as follows: President, Miss Lillias Nelson; vice-president, Miss Mary E. Noone; secretary, Mrs. Edgar N. Falen; treasurer, Mrs. John Eckert. The members then chose their paper topics for next year when they will take up the study of "Epochs of French Literature."

The club then adjourned until the first fall meeting.

Gunsalus-Durkee.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Durkee, on Walnut street, Walden, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Sunday, when their youngest daughter, Miss Jessie, became the bride of Myron C. Gunsalus, of New York city. The bride was Mrs. and Mrs. Joshua Gunsalus, of Gardiner. Promptly at 2 o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Raymond Durkee, of Newburgh, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Maurice Rauner, of Walden, the bridal party took their places beneath an arch in the parlor. The color scheme of the decorations was pink and white, backed with the national colors and red. Rev. Theodore F. Barles performed the ceremony. Miss Violet Durkee, sister of the bride, who is in the United States service at Fort Ontario, N. Y., acted as bridesmaid, and Charles Owen, of Montgomery, was best man. A niece of the bride, little Helen Durkee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Durkee, of Newburgh, was the flower girl. The bride's dress was of white crepe de chine, and Georgeanne crepe, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore pink satin draped with chiffon and carried pink roses. The bride's traveling dress was of blue serge. Following the ceremony, a wedding feast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Gunsalus left for a trip to New York city, where they will make their home at Bridgeport. Conn., where the groom is employed as sanitary plumbing inspector in the Remington Arms Works. He was formerly bookkeeper in the Western Hardware store in Walden. Thirty guests were present at the wedding, including the grandmothers of both bride and groom.

WALKKILL.
Walkkill, April 25.—Extensive plans are going on for the Liberty Loan parade which is to take place Friday at 6:30 o'clock p. m. and will last till 7:30, when two lanterns, a man from the men's committee and a woman from the women's committee will give addresses in the Reformed Church at 8 o'clock. Every association and organization will be represented in the parade. Every Liberty Loan purchaser, every Red Cross member, every soldier, dragoon, all will be led by a band of music. Walkkill district expects to come over the top Friday night. Mrs. George Halliday, chairman, has the parade in charge and everyone is working heart and hand to make this the best yet Liberty parade. Everyone will be welcome. Residents of the town will have their homes decorated for the occasion and hearty hand claps and general applause is promised the participants of the third Liberty Loan parade.

Mrs. George Halliday and her committee are the third Liberty Loan, under the section of Walker Valley, Ulsterville and Shawangunk generally in their attractively decorated super-limousine. The big Liberty Loan sign on back of car could be seen many blocks. The women's committee has spared nothing to make the Shawangunk township come over the top and they are sure of victory.

The Hip Hip Minstrel benefit for the Home War Red Cross which is to be held in Firemen's Hall on the evenings of May 1st and May 2nd promises to be the "event of events."

Uncle Sam is selling at a rapid pace. Slim Jim and the Hoodoo will be one of the specialties. The boys giving the minstrels are Walkkill boys, who have not had to go to front this far and they want to do their bit and more for our boys who are there and consequently are giving this Home War Red Cross benefit. That more woolen outfits might be made for our boys "over there."

Rev. Mr. Lofthouse of Walden preached a most able and patriotic sermon on Sunday evening in the Reformed Church. Mr. Demott preaching in the Methodist Church at Walden.

Huge Galbraith was expected home on furlough the past week, but word has been received by his parents that he has sailed for France.

Clarence Rank expects to leave for Camp Dix Monday morning.

"The Black Heifer."
The Mount Marion Band will give a play entitled, "The Black Heifer," in the church hall Friday evening, for the benefit of the Reformed Church. There will also be a band concert. Ice cream and cake will be served and a small admission charged.

"Officer 666."
The East Kingston Dramatic Club will present the famous comedy, "Officer 666," in the East Kingston Hall both Saturday and Monday evenings, April 27 and 29. Stages will leave the Central Postoffice at 8 o'clock each evening. Dancing will follow the play, for which excellent music will be furnished.

The will of Mary B. Riggins of Edenville, was admitted to probate by Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court today. The testatrix gives her estate to her husband, Cornelius Riggins, who is appointed executor. The will was executed November 10, 1899, and witnessed by the late Walter C. Dolson and the late Charles E. Riggins. The value of the real estate is $2,000, subject to a mortgage of $1,500; there is no personal property. Virgil B. Van Wageningen appeared for the executor.

Letters of administration on the estate of Elizabeth G. Hingeboom of the town of Esopus were issued to her sister, Christina E. Forbes. The value of the estate is $1,200, personal property. Arthur C. Connelly appeared for the administrator.

Letters of administration on the estate of James Oakley of the town of Lloyd were issued to Benjamin Johnson. The value of the estate is $2,300, personal property. A. D. & A. W. Lent appeared for the administrator.

Board of Public Works Should Have a Music Committee Now They Have Kingston Point Park—A Job for Some One Maybe.

"Well, I see where the board of public works has, leased Kingston Point Park," remarked the Casual Visitor as he dropped into the city hall this morning.

"I expected they would take it over," replied the City Hall Oracle.

"Wonder if they are going to have the same kind of music," mused the Casual Visitor.

"You don't call that music, do you?" snorted the City Hall Oracle.

"Well, it was better than none at all," retorted the Casual Visitor. He added "I wonder if any of the board of public works would have an ear for music?"

"Well, I see where the mayor writes poetry," suggested the City Hall Oracle.

"That's no indication he is a musician though," replied the Casual Visitor, "but it seems to me that the board should get busy and appoint a special music committee."

"What for?" asked the City Hall Oracle.

"To have charge of the music at the Point," explained the Casual Visitor.

"Maybe that would make a job open for some one," interrupted the City Hall Oracle.

"A job for some one?" said the Casual Visitor inquiringly.

"Sure, the board has a tree expert and there is no reason why it can't afford also to have a music expert," explained the City Hall Oracle.

"That would make a good job for some one," replied the Casual Visitor.

"And there ought to be no difficulty in finding some Bull Moose who understands music," added the City Hall Oracle.

BOYS DAMAGE
ACADEMY PARK

Boys have been doing considerable damage to Kingston Academy Park. Two bird houses were fastened to trees in the park some time ago but on Wednesday one of the houses was smashed by stones which boys hurled at it. The boys also have thrown rocks and small stones on the lawn and against the shrubs which have been placed in the park, resulting in considerable damage.

Since the snow disappeared, Custodian Irwin P. Wiane has been engaged in getting the park in shape for summer and it presents a fine appearance. When the shrubs and flowering plants which were set out last summer and fall come in bloom, they will add greatly to the attractiveness of the park which already is one of the beauty spots of town.

No. 7 Defeats No. 8.

Another fast and exciting game of baseball was played between Schools No. 7 and No. 8 at Forsyth Park on Wednesday, the score being 5 to 10 in No. 7's favor. There were many fourths for both sides. This is the fourth game they have won and haven't met a defeat yet and hope not to.

No. 7's lineup is as follows: Mahar, cf.; Myers, 2b.; Stoutenburg, p.; Perlman, c.; Huestis, 1b.; Leonard, lf.; O'Neil, 3b.; Forman, rf.; Needles, ss. Subs, Wood, Leventhal, Shealy.

TRICE FLAG AT TEMPLE EMANUEL

The musical and readings given at Temple Emanuel Wednesday evening in connection with the presentation of the service flag, proved to be a very enjoyable affair. Each number on the program was highly appreciated. The violin solos by Nat Herman were artistically rendered. The vocal solos by Mrs. Helen Stearns Mann greatly delighted her hearers, and one selection, "Keep the Home Fires Burning," being sung with much feeling, to call forth great enthusiasm. Miss Anna Cassler, in her charming manner, appropriately sang James Whitcomb Riley's "Old Man, Jim." Mrs. Ruby Markson, showed musical skill in the rendition of her piano solo, and generously responded to the applause given her, with a pleasing encore. Mrs. Osterhoudt's solo delighted her audience and Herman La Tour's rich, mellow tenor voice so charmed his listeners that he was obliged to give an encore number.

At the close of this part of the program, the Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, in an able and eloquent manner, addressed those present, and at the close of his remarks presented the service flag, the gift of the Ladies' Aid Society. The judges' remarks and genial manner so pleased the audience that their one regret was that this part of the program, came so soon to an end.

Rabbi Rosenbaum accepted the flag in behalf of the Temple Emanuel, and its parent Circle No. 2, of Temple Emanuel is to be congratulated upon having presented such a delightful and appropriate program as was rendered last evening.

STOCK COMPANY MAKES GOOD.

Merkle-Harder Company continues to present Standard Dramas.

The Merkle-Harder Company played "It Pays to Advertise" before a large and delighted audience at the Kingston opera house Wednesday night and tonight will present Margaret Livingston's remarkable success "The Lie."

On Friday night the company will present David Belasco's and Charles Frohman's great Indian and American drama "The Heart of Wotona," which created a sensation among theatrical managers when it was first played last fall at the Lyceum Theatre, New York city. The dramatic critics and the public united in accepting it as one of the dramatic successes of a decade. It was the intention of the producers to give the theatregoer an idea of the traditions of the Indians and their loyalty to each other, together with their high standard of morals and they succeeded admirably. While the play is western and a strong Indian atmosphere predominates, the heart interest of the little white squaw is quite out of the ordinary.

Bringing Autos From Detroit.

Abram F. Molynaux and an assistant from the Uster Garage, accompanied by a driver, arrived at Schermerhorn and Blakum Whitney left town Wednesday for Detroit from which place they will bring two repainted touring cars to Kingston. The freight embargo necessitates automobile dealers getting their cars from the factories and running them to their destination. Mr. Molynaux and his assistant will run the cars to Kingston, where they have been sold. Supervisor Schermerhorn and Mr. Whitney accompanied him for the sale of the trip home by auto.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, April 25.—Prayer service will be omitted this evening in the Methodist Church on account of the patriotic rally in Pythian Hall.

Miss Elsie Lowe will entertain the Dorcas Society at her home on Scaryes street Friday evening, April 26. A full attendance is desired.

A patriotic rally will be held in Pythian Hall this evening. "Wake up." Now is the time to show your patriotism. Our boys have left their homes, and are now "over there" or anxiously awaiting the call to go "over there." Home comforts are not obtainable without our co-operation. The meeting is to be addressed by the Hon. John G. Van Dusen of the city of Kingston, John M. Oshon, Esq., of Kingston, Mrs. Laura McMillan, also of Kingston. These are all forcible and eloquent speakers, who will talk upon the methods to be used towards the annihilation of the Hun, thus making our home safe in the future. Everybody come filled with American patriotic spirit. Do not remain away, thus giving your neighbor any idea that you are hostile to the United States or in favor of German autocracy in this war. The clergy is also invited.

The Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout, pastor of the Methodist Church, will preach an anniversary sermon to the members of Port Ewen Lodge, No. 656, I. O. O. F., Sunday evening, April 28. Odd Fellows residing in this vicinity, who are members of other lodges, are most cordially invited to meet with Port Ewen Lodge and attend this service. Officers and members of Port Ewen Lodge will meet at the lodge rooms at 7 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church will hold a variety food sale in the chapel Friday afternoon, April 26, from 2 to 5 o'clock. Those having articles to contribute will kindly have them there by 2:30 o'clock.

Musical lovers of Port Ewen and vicinity will be given the opportunity of tripping the light fantastic at Pythian Hall Wednesday evening, May 1, when the alumni of the Port Ewen Public School No. 13 will hold their patriotic dance. Miller's orchestra has been engaged for the occasion and this alone is enough to insure a good time for all attending. The proceeds will be used for the purchase of a service flag for former students of No. 13 who are now in the service, and also for Red Cross and other patriotic work. With patriotism now is the time to show it, and if you want a service flag to float over No. 13 for the boys who have offered themselves for humanity, purchase a ticket for this worthy cause and have the satisfaction that you have done your bit in showing your respect for them. If you do not dance buy a ticket or any number of them and your money will be readily accepted just the same. Dancing begins at 8 o'clock. Admission: Ladies, 15c. gent's, 25c.

The following members of the Port Ewen Orchestra will assist with the music at the patriotic rally in Pythian Hall: W. A. Van Duser, cornetist, Mrs. John L. Gillette, pianist, LeGrand Doyle, violinist.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, April 25.—Mrs. George Smetwood and son spent the week end with her parents in Wallkill.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCallister of New Paltz have returned home after visiting for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Eli Mackey.

A social meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Sutton on Wednesday evening May 1st. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. Edward Poterrell and son were in Walden last Saturday.

A DOG CAUSES MUCH EXCITEMENT

Constable Reynolds Has Wounded Hand. Joe Cimorelli is in the County Jail, And the Dog's Day Remaining Are Probably Few.

That the path of a dog catcher is not a rosy one was demonstrated on April 22 at Glaseco when Constable Victor Reynolds while rounding up dogs without a license had a battle royal with a dog belonging to Joe Cimorelli of Glaseco.

As the results of the scrap between Reynolds and the dog, Reynolds has a number of wounds on both hands. Cimorelli is in the Ulster county jail, awaiting the action of the grand jury, and the dog is being held somewhere in a place of detention where all dogs apprehended without a license are kept.

They say every dog has his day but it seems quite probable that the rest of the days of Cimorelli's dog are limited in number.

The case presents some interesting and novel points of law, and a large crowd attended the preliminary examination of Cimorelli held at Saugerties Wednesday afternoon before Justice of the Peace W. M. Chulster.

Cimorelli is represented by Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., Benjamin Rowe of Saugerties represents Reynolds.

The charge preferred against Cimorelli is assault in the second degree. Mr. Brinnier contended that there was nothing in the alleged facts in the case to substantiate this charge, as the defendant had not personally, either with or without a weapon, assaulted Reynolds.

Rowe claimed that the words, "Eat him up, Jack," alleged to have been said by the defendant to his dog constituted the basis for the second degree assault charge.

Harry Gilmore, who was assisting Reynolds in catching dogs, claimed that he was also bitten by the same dog, but not seriously. He admitted on the stand that he was bitten before Reynolds was, and before the remarks of "Eat him up, Jack," were uttered by the defendant to his dog.

Mr. Brinnier contended that inasmuch as Gilmore, another party to the alleged transaction, had admitted that he was bitten before Reynolds was and before the alleged instructions given by defendant to his dog, that this was one of the grounds for a dismissal of the complaint.

Mr. Brinnier also asked for a dismissal upon the grounds that from the information it appeared that there had not been any crime of assault of second degree committed by the defendant.

The court refused the request for the dismissal.

The court also at first, because no commitment papers could be found, refused Mr. Brinnier's request to commit the defendant at once so that bail could be made out.

Mr. Rowe opposed this request and then Mr. Brinnier insisted that the commitment be made out and the defendant delivered to the sheriff of Ulster county for the purpose of taking an appeal or for the purpose of giving bail before the county court of Ulster.

The commitment papers were made out and Constable Reynolds started to get in a car with the defendant to bring him to the county jail here. For some reason the court then wanted to reopen the case and said that the defendant could be brought to Kingston the next morning.

A lively controversy on the sidewalk was the result of the court's latest ruling, and the situation was taken in by a large crowd of spectators.

Eventually the court said that Constable Reynolds could start then and bring the defendant to the county jail.

Surely one dog caused much excitement, and then some.

On With the Third Liberty Loan!—

There is no turning back—we must conquer!

Already American blood has been spilt. Casualty lists come nearer home in fact have already touched Kingston. THERE IS NO LONGER TURNING BACK; WE MUST GO STRAIGHT ON. And remember that the more money there is for the Government, the less will be the sacrifice and the quicker the finish of this dreadful scourge.

Buy a Liberty Bond—fellow citizens—as many as you can. Each is another step toward peace and the end of the war!

Do it To-morrow—Don't Wait!

You are asked to spend wisely—to buy only the things honestly needed to maintain your health and efficiency. This is intelligent thrift. The Government asks it of you as a war measure.

Bonds Are Not A Burden, But A Blessing

Thrift requires the exercise of restraint and self-denial—qualities without which you cannot achieve the success in life which it is your ambition to achieve and for the lack of which you are likely to suffer in later years.

The money you acquire by thrift you are asked to loan—not give—to your country. It will come back to you when you may need it far more than you do now, and you will be paid interest for its use.

This war is a frightful thing, but it may prove of inestimable benefit to us all, if it teaches the good habit of thrift.

"The Ground Gripper" SURGICAL SHOE

Is the Original Muscle Developing Health Shoe
COMFORT FOR ALL FEET

As a rule, changes in orthopedic shoeing are brought about by the slow process of evolution, and the conservative physician is never willing to make a radical change from the old method to the new until the advantages of the new have been firmly established by years of trial.

In the application of our "GROUND GRIPPER" shoe, the right conditions have been met, and the rapidity with which it is being adopted by eminent medical men proves it to be an assured success. In presenting some of the features of our "GROUND GRIPPER" shoe, we feel that we are calling your attention to one of the most important necessities of life.

Doctors have spent much of their time trying to find a shoe that would take the place of MECHANICAL appliances or ARTIFICIAL SUPPORTS, such as PLATES or STEEL SHANKS, commonly called "props for the feet," which are so rigid and unyielding that they WEAKEN instead of STRENGTHEN the muscles of the feet.

Everyone who enjoys walking, or has to stand on their feet most of the time, will find this shoe a source of rest, and a practical cure for foot troubles.

ORDERS FOR THE PARADE SATURDAY

The Liberty Ball and Liberty Coach are expected to arrive here between five and six o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Attorney D. G. Atkins, who is to be the grand marshal of the parade to be held here Saturday afternoon in honor of the Liberty Ball and Liberty Coach, has announced the general parade orders, including place of formation, line of march, etc.

There will be four divisions and all will form on Albany avenue. This line of march will be Albany avenue to St. James street, to Broadway, to the armory.

It is not known just what time the ball and coach will arrive, but it is expected that it will be between five and six o'clock. A hour before the arrival, the fire bell will ring 1776, and this will be the signal for the organizations and citizens to assemble at the place of formation.

It is hoped that Old Glory will fly from every home and from every place of business Saturday in honor of the Liberty Ball and the Liberty Coach.

The parade is open to all organizations and citizens and Kingstonians should turn out and give to these emblems of liberty a rousing and patriotic welcome.

Upretie cities are giving the Liberty Ball and Liberty Coach a stirring welcome. The ball and coach are due at Hudson Friday afternoon. Business will be suspended and the schools will close, and what is expected will be the largest parade ever witnessed in that city, will be held.

At Watervliet, after the ball and coach had passed through the town, the clerical force at the banks were kept busy for two hours taking subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan.

In the other cities the ball and coach have visited, they were received with a big patriotic demonstration. Let Kingston do her bit and receive the Liberty Ball and the Liberty Coach in the right spirit.

The orders for the day are as follows:

Headquarters of Grand Marshal, Kingston, N. Y., April 24, 1918.

The following orders for the parade in honor of the Liberty Coach and Ball, which will be held in Kingston on Saturday afternoon, April 27, 1918, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

The exact time is not known, but the city fire alarm will ring notifying the people that the Liberty Ball is on its way from Saugerties to Kingston.

1. When the city fire alarm strikes 1776 each organization and citizens will assemble at the place designated for the formation on Albany avenue, near the city line, in order to meet and escort the Liberty Coach and Ball to the armory.

2. The line of march will be Albany avenue to St. James street, to Broadway, to the armory, where the command will be halted and dismissed.

AUDUBON CLASS IN MOUNTAIN SCHOOLS

Sundown and Lowe's Corners Schools held Union Session—Ulster and Sullivan County Joint Hands.

Four years ago a Junior Audubon Class was formed from the pupils of three district schools, Sundown, Greenville, Ulster county, and Lowe's Corners, Sullivan county. A union session has been held every spring, to celebrate Bird Day, and excellent work has been done by the society.

The members have become familiar with birds and their habits, they have fed them in the window, made bird houses, sent abandoned nests to city children, secured over one hundred readers to a pamphlet telling how birds help the farmer and they have given an evening entertainment on birds, illustrated with slides, before a large community gathering.

This year it seemed well to make the annual meeting a patriotic celebration. The Greenville school could not come this time, and six small Sundowners were out with the measles, but about twenty pupils gathered at the Lowe's Corners school on Friday, April 19, and had a delightful afternoon. The room had been prettily decorated with greens, flags and Liberty Loan posters. Before the exercises, Mr. Dimock took several photographs of the society.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Helen DuBois, and opened with concert reading of Bible verses about birds and prayer by Mrs. Dimock. Recitations on birds were given by Melvin and Gussie Lievre, Sundown, by James and Laura Van Wagner, Charles Cross and Sheldon Ryan, Lowe's Corners. Interesting compositions on bird observation were read by Kenneth Ryan, Gerald Cross, Burr Kortright, Lowe's Corners, by Mabel TerBush, Helen DuBois, Mary Sheley, Kenneth Brooks, and one written by Wessel Cross was also read. Mrs. Dimock told of sending some of the garden compositions of last year to Mr. Tuttle of State College, and of his words of appreciation. The pupils' recitations, "The Birds of Killingworth" were then read, and the help given by the birds to the farmers was emphasized. Mrs. Barkley, teacher of the Lowe's Corners school, read an interesting account of three bird shelters, kept up by Bird pupils. Bird calendars were reported. George Sheley had noted 21 varieties this season, Gerald Cross 20; these numbers led.

The second part of the program was wholly patriotic. It opened with the singing of America by all present, and an earnest exercise of salutation to the flag, led by Mrs. Barkley. Recitation was given by William Van Wagner, Margaret Sheley read a stirring composition, "How to Win the War." Evelyn Sheley gave a good account of Red Cross work. Ora TerBush had sent a composition on "How Farms and Gardens Help Win the War," and George Sheley gave a splendid composition on "War Savings." This was written in preparation for the "Junior Four Minute Men War Saving Contest." Mrs. Dimock then called attention to the poster drawn by our soldiers going "Over the Top" for us. On this she had lettered, "Give them Wheat—Eat Potatoes," and as she talked she put her points on the board. Boys and girls can help their country by Red Cross work, farming or gardening, buying war stamps, and saving. "Four Minute Contest," and displaying war posters. She emphasized "Give them wheat—eat potatoes." At the close of her talk the whole audience took the following pledge, facing the flag, held by the president, Helen DuBois: "I promise to serve my country in her time of need!" With the singing of another verse of America this part of the program was concluded. Election of officers followed. Margaret Sheley and Wessel Cross tied on the first ballot for president, and in the second, Margaret Sheley was elected.

Games and refreshments followed the exercises and the pleasant afternoon was over.

SPENCER'S BUSINESS SCHOOL NOTES.

During the past few days graduates of Spencer's Business School have accepted good business positions as follows:

Miss Florence Sternberg of Saugerties, a student of the shorthand department of Spencer's Business School, has secured a permanent situation as stenographer and typist with The Tissue Company, Saugerties.

William Buddenhagen, of the evening classes of Spencer's School, has secured an excellent position as stenographer and office assistant with the Ulster & Delaware Railroad Company, this city.

Miss Catherine Forman, of the shorthand department, has obtained a splendid position as stenographer and clerical assistant with John B. Ball, ter P. Crane, Thomas J. Comerford, and Charles T. Coutant.

ACCORD.

Accord, April 25.—At the annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Rochester Reformed Church, held at the home of Miss Edna Baker, on Tuesday afternoon of last week, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Benjamin F. ACCORD BOY SCOUTS AID LIBERTY LOAN

The newly organized troop of Boy Scouts of Accord will get busy next Saturday morning for a week of strenuous campaigning to secure subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan. They will raise their tent, fully purchased for the troop, on the main street of Accord, and have a display within of posters, war pictures, pamphlets and books with coupons in charge to show the exhibit. Application blanks for subscriptions will be on hand and the boys will be ready to explain the need for the advantages of investment in the war loan.

The Boy Scouts of the nation raised over $100,000,000 during the second loan campaign, and greatly pleased President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo by this splendid showing. This time they mean to go far ahead of their previous record, and the Accord boys are intending to do their full share.

President Wilson has sent a special letter to the chief scout executive of the nation, urging the scouts to help to the very utmost of their ability. The work from April 27 to May 4 has been assigned for the campaign, when the Scouts are to "go after the reapers," making a house-to-house canvass of sections which the adult committees have been unable to cover, and securing additional subscriptions, whether large or small, from men who have already invested, but wish to give added help to the soldier boys through the Scouts in the closing days of the campaign.

The Accord boys plan to take their tent to Kerhonkson for one or two evenings, and aid in the work there. There are no other troops nearby to do the work, and the chairman of the troop, committee John Van Kleeck, has invited the boys to render this service.

Every boy will have with him the proof of his authority to take bond applications (receiving no money however). In the shape of his Scout badge, and his pocket certificate from Scout Headquarters.

The boys will meet for final discussion of the campaign, at their rooms in Henry DeVoe's building, at 7 o'clock Friday evening of this week. Boys of the Allgerville troop who wish to work in campaign, are cordially invited to come also, and in case the Allgerville organization not continued, to join the troop of Accord. Every boy who sells ten or more bonds will receive from the government a fine medal in recognition of his services in helping to save the lives of our soldiers, and maintain the freedom of America.

The names of the boys who belong to the Accord troop are as follows: Francis Davenport, Harry Coddington, Haviland Barley, Harry Ford, Archie Lawrence, Abe Amster, Claude Tappan, Herbert Sahler, Lawrence DeVoe, John Myers, Alfred Miller, John Schoonmaker, Harry Lawrence, Maurice Davenport, Leonard O'Leahy, William Drake, Raymond Lawrence.

Schoolmasters' Council Meeting.
Hon. Francis M. Hugo, secretary of state for the state of New York, will be the guest of honor at the next meeting of the Schoolmasters' Council of the Highlands at the Hotel Palatine, Newburgh, Friday evening, May 3.

At the dinner given by the schoolmasters' council of the Highlands at the Hotel Palatine, Newburgh, Friday evening, May 3, the speaker of the occasion, Mr. Hugo, will speak on "Signs of the Times." This address will be of a practical nature and parts of it will deal with the school situation as viewed by the secretary of the Empire State. The usual social feature will begin at 6 o'clock. Dinner, at $1.25 a plate, will be served at 8 o'clock. During the evening a suitable tribute to the memory of former Superintendent of State of Newburgh will be read. The Saturday morning meeting will be in charge of Superintendent F. L. Smith of Walden, who will report on the proposed plans for co-operating with the Associated Academic Principals in some lines of educational research.

OLIVERIA.

Oliveria, April 25.—Assessors Groo and Herdman of Phoenicia were in Oliveria Monday assessing property.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy J. Adams of Herkimer are spending a few days with relatives in town. Mr. Adams has been called to report for army service the first of next week.

Edward Dutcher was in the town of Denning a few days last week. H. E. Dutcher, who has been in Brooklyn the past three months, is expected home on Saturday, May 4.

Mrs. Frank Porter has secured a position as clerk in connection with the school system of Brooklyn. She will go to assume her new duties in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Satterlee were at Pine Hill Tuesday.

Fred L. Andrews is employed on the state conservation force near Tannersville.

COMPANY L IS HIGHLY PRAISED

Camp Dix, N. J., April 21.—Just a few lines to let you know I'm still here although never expected to be this long. Have they picked the next bunch to leave Kingston to come down yet? Is Heine coming down with them? Some of the last that left were over to see us Saturday. Buck Cragin was among them and the sure looks good in a uniform. They all seem to be satisfied with the life.

They are giving silver cups to the company that shows the best talent. All the companies in the 10th were ordered out in the parade grounds Saturday to have their rifles being present to witness it. When it was over they came up to our company commander, Capt. L. W. Card, and highly complimented him on having the best company in the regiment. And you can imagine how our captain and lieutenant felt. They deserve great credit as they work day and night to make good soldiers out of us.

Co. L. has the best record in the regiment and we are going to try and hold it.

We are going to try and get the high score at the rifle range, as that means another cup and you can tell the whole world we want the majority of them.

We are going to show what the Ulster county boys can do.

I see where Matthew Madden is over. I never thought he'd beat us over.

PLATTEKILL.

A meeting of the Plattekill Red Cross Chapter will be held at the home of Mrs. Edna and Birdie West, Monday afternoon, May 3.

Charles Dempsy has closed his blacksmith shop as he will leave for Camp Dix, N. J., next Monday.

Miss Glennie Wager has returned home from the Hospital for Ruptured and Crapulous, New York city, greatly improved in strength.

John Tuttle of Leontdale is pressing hay and straw for farmers in this town.

Mrs. Nelson Yeager and son, Robert, were visitors at Mrs. M. Walte's last week.

A dance was given at A. Wesley's on evening last week, and several young people from this place attended.

Mrs. Charles Conine and children from Newburgh spent a few days last week at M. Garrison's.

L. J. O'REILLY TO SUCCEED STRAUSS

Appointed Commissioner of New York Board of Water Supply—Has Been Connected with W. R. Hearst's Successes For Many Years.

Mayor Hylan on Tuesday announced the appointment of L. J. O'Reilly as a member of the New York Board of Water Supply, to succeed Charles Strauss, who recently resigned.

Commissioner Strauss resigned as a member of the board because, he said, the position was unnecessary because all the work that called the board into existence during the McClellan administration had been accomplished.

In his letter to Mr. O'Reilly, Mayor Hylan stated:

"This administration sent a measure to the Legislature which had for its purpose the abolition of the Board of Water Supply. The Legislature in its judgment saw fit to deny our proposition. I have delayed considering the appointment of a successor to Com. Strauss because I had anticipated favorable action by the Legislature. However, since the Legislature did not take any action, I am now confronted with the consideration of a successor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the former chairman of the Board of Water Supply."

"I wish to take this opportunity to ask you to accept the post of commissioner of the Board of Water Supply. If you accept appointment to this office, I wish you would make an immediate investigation of the affairs of the Board of Water Supply for me, so that you may be able to give me first-hand information as to the functions, if any, for its continuation."

"I trust that your report will be ready so that it may be submitted for the consideration of the next Legislature. Please be good enough to advise me at an early date if you will accept membership on this board."

For a number of years, Mr. O'Reilly has been private secretary to William R. Hearst and during the various campaigns in which Mr. Hearst has taken part personally, he has acted as his political manager.

In such work, as well as in his numerous other activities in connection with Mr. Hearst's various business enterprises, Mr. O'Reilly has displayed exceptional ability whose value to Mr. Hearst has been inestimable and he has to a large extent become a figure of nationwide prominence.

New York newspapers announce that there is a revolt within the Tammany organization against the Hearst candidacy for governor which will come into the open if Charles F. Murphy and Hearst should reach a mutually satisfactory understanding. If the New York newspapers correctly interpret the political feeling which centers around Mayor Hylan, Mr. Hearst, Mr. Murphy and the Tammany organization, Mr. O'Reilly's appointment as commissioner of the Board of Water Supply will have greater political significance than that of any of his predecessors. The salary is $12,000 a year.

Ellenville, April 24.—Members of the Woman's Club entertained in honor of the "Guest Night" at Memorial Hall Friday evening, April 19th. There was a large attendance and it proved to be a very delightful affair. Among the guests were Frank Seaman, Mrs. O. R. Sarre and Miss Rose Cecil O'Neill of Yama.

Famous Mrs. Holman, president of the club, welcomed the members, and their guests and then the very interesting program as arranged went forward. A piano solo was well rendered by Mrs. W. D. Cunningham.

Vocal solos by Mrs. E. R. Kimble and Mrs. J. H. Rapp. Mrs. Sarre gave an excellent talk on Red Cross work and the Liberty Loan. The address of the evening was delivered by Judge Cunningham, who was at his best and covered topics that are most vital at this time and was received with very hearty and well merited applause. The ladies served delicious refreshments and they were enjoyed with a pleasant social intercourse. The Memorial Hall where the event was held added charm to the occasion in all its newness. The ladies were wise in selecting such an ideal place for the delightful entertainment that they gave their guests.

Mrs. C. F. Taylor and daughters, the Misses Virginia and Pauline Taylor, entertained a company of friends at their home on Center street Saturday afternoon, April 20, in honor of their sister-in-law, Mrs. George Taylor. With games, music and very dainty refreshments served the ladies spent an enjoyable afternoon together. Mrs. Taylor has received word of the safe arrival of her young husband overseas.

Announcement is made of the Spring Pazaar given by the children of the village under the direction of Miss Evelyn B. Bailey, at the high school auditorium on the evening of Wednesday, May 1st.

Word has been received by relatives of the safe arrival of Henry Smith in France.

Horace G. Kimble of New York, spent Sunday with his sister, Miss Ida Kimble.

Mrs. William L. Hornbeck of Hickory street, has gone for a two weeks' visit with her brother, Chris. Hellmuth and family in Brooklyn.

Ford Howe of Ellenville, and Harold Oliver of Grahamsville, both varied employees of the Home National Bank, are reported called to the colors.

Thomas McMullen has returned home after being in the government employ for a few weeks in New York.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, April 24.—Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather last Sunday, there were large congregations both morning and evening at the M. E. Church to listen to the Rev. F. A. Coon, the new pastor. This man possesses many excellent qualities. As a man he is mainly in every sense of the word. As a preacher he is careful, clear and forceful in statement, always presenting truth in a manner calculated to favorably impress his hearers.

Mrs. Frederick Bradshaw of Connecticut is visiting relatives here this week.

Captain R. H. Decker spent Monday at Pleasant Valley.

Livingston Rhoades, who has been home a few days on a furlough, joined the Masonic fraternity Monday evening.

Mrs. J. B. Moule, of the Pines, had some Vassar girls to spend the day last Tuesday. These students come to her quite often and greatly enjoy the outing.

We notice some of the housewives are beginning the task of cleaning house and some of the men are making garden and cleaning up around yards. These things make it look more like living.

At the M. E. parsonage Mr. Ferris and Mr. Van Wert are repairing and painting the interior and new carpets will be put down in some rooms and some new furniture put in, so it will be in very good condition, for in the spring it seems there is always so many things to attend to in all our homes to make them comfortable.

Helen Coddington, who has the measles, is improving very nicely and will be able to be out in about a week.

Mrs. Eli Dimsey of Lloyd was in this place on Tuesday doing some shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday in this place with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Atkins and daughter, Ethel, spent the week end at New Paltz with relatives and had a very pleasant time.

Next Wednesday evening the Daughters of America will hold their regular meeting. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

Epworth League Red Cross met as usual last Monday evening. Large number present and all are working earnestly for our boys.

Dr. W. T. Rivenburgh arrived in town Friday evening for a few days furlough.

Rev. G. H. Seefeldt has been appointed commissioner to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which will convene at Columbus, O., from 16 to 25 of May. This will be a fine trip for the Reverend.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Amelia Krom, mother of Mrs. Fred Decker, were held Saturday morning last from the M. E. Church of this place, and was attended by relatives and friends, for she had lived here for several years and had many friends and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She had lived with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, most of the time since her husband's death. She had been ill for a long time. Everything that could be done to alleviate her suffering was done. She had a trained nurse for months. Rev. J. C. Condon, of the Board of Water Supply, assisted by the Rev. F. A. Coon. There was a fine display of beautiful tributes, showing the esteem in which she was held. The interment was in Highland cemetery under the direction of Undertaker W. E. Wilcox. Three daughters were left to mourn the loss of a dear mother. Sympathy is extended these people by a wide circle of friends.

Epworth League social, which was held in the M. E. Church parlors last Friday evening, was a very successful event. Over 50 were in attendance. These people enjoyed games and music. There was a contest on and Gordon Kurtz was the one who won first prize and Ruth Cadwell was second. This made quite some sport and created an enthusiastic and rivalry among the young people, which all ways tends to give up affairs and at the close it was remarked "Long live the Epworth League as a boon to the church and a blessing to the young people."

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Clearwater, who have spent the winter in Florida, will return to Lake Mohawk for the summer. They expect to have the hotel filled there quite early. It certainly is a delightful, restful spot for one to stay and everyone who goes here speaks in high terms of the management.

A handsome flag has been given to the M. E. Church by the parents of two of our boys who have left for service. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lent and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Maynard. This flag was presented to the church last Sunday at the morning service by Howard E. Wilcox, who made a very nice presentation address—making all feel that the very air is filled with patriotism and all know full well that all are passing through exciting times constantly and we true patriots must be ready to sacrifice for the right and act with justice toward all.

Sergeant Livingston Rhoades, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhoades, who is stationed at Camp Gordon, Georgia, arrived home last Saturday noon for a few days furlough. He is feeling well but looked tired out. He left here for Walden in the afternoon for a visit with Miss DeKay. His "bride-to-be" is very happy.

He left on Tuesday noon and carried with him the best wishes of his loved ones and a host of friends who hope that soon the boys may return to their homes and that cruel war cease; this every one is longing for.

Principal E. A. Marsh of the high school here, talked on the Liberty Loan question on Sunday evening last in the M. E. Church. He is well posted on the subject and every one was certainly greatly pleased to hear him and he certainly gave what we would call a masterpiece.

Red Cross people at the M. E. Church after the work Monday evening had refreshments and to say we all enjoyed them would be putting it light for I just tell you the salad and other good things, along with the soft drinks, were really appreciated.

The oyster supper on Wednesday evening was well attended and every one enjoyed it very much. The affair was a fine success in the parade line as is always the case with these auxiliary people's suppers. There was good music during the repast and a fine social time was enjoyed by all. Patriotism was shown in the decorations and a fine sum was realized to put in the treasury of the M. E. Church.

Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis on Milton avenue, a very pretty wedding occurred when their daughter, Miss Florence, was united in marriage to George Huson of Towners. The bride looked lovely in a white silk gown with handsome head-dress. She is a favorite among her friends. They left for a short wedding trip and have not heard where they are to reside. Rev. F. W. Coon performed the ceremony. Congratulations from a host of friends are in order.

CITY LEASES PARK AT KINGSTON POINT

The board of public works at a special session held Wednesday afternoon accepted the offer of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company and have leased Kingston Point Park for the season the lease expiring October 1, with the privilege of renewing it for five years at the expiration of the lease. Under the terms of the lease the trolley road will furnish the electricity to light the park and run the merry-go-round. The city pays the trolley road $1,000 for the use of the pavilion and docks and $1 for the use of the merry-go-round. It is expected that band music may be a feature this summer at the point.

The board took no action on the ordinance regulating the parking of automobiles on certain of the city streets, and it will probably come up for action at another meeting later.

EDDYVILLE

Eddyville, April 25.—Mrs. Alice Sheiligher and son, Arthur, together with her mother, Mrs. Edmond, all of Port Ewen, motored to Eddyville on Saturday evening last and called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hume.

WAR'S GRIM TOOLS SHOWN IN EXHIBIT

Weapons of Destruction Speed Liberty Bond Sale in New York City.

Liberty Land in the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory in New York city continues to attract thousands of people, who visit it daily to see the collection of war relics and war materials, most of which were sent directly from France and England by their respective governments to the Liberty Loan Committee for the express purpose of arousing interest in the Third Liberty Loan.

Undoubtedly the most interesting thing in the British Official Exhibit is the fragment of one of the Zeppelins shot down during a disastrous expedition to bomb London. The twisted and warped four foot fragment of one of the aluminum struts connecting the framework of the big airship is a powerful argument in itself of the cost of the things that the country needs for its successful struggle to make the world a decent place to live in.

In another part of the exhibit is one of the German Fokker airplanes, and its placard states that it was shot down in the course of an air raid over London. The imagination is thrilled by a view of it and the knowledge that one of the last things its pilot saw before falling to his death was the big city beneath him torn by the bombs which he had released for the indiscriminate destruction of the noncombatants below him.

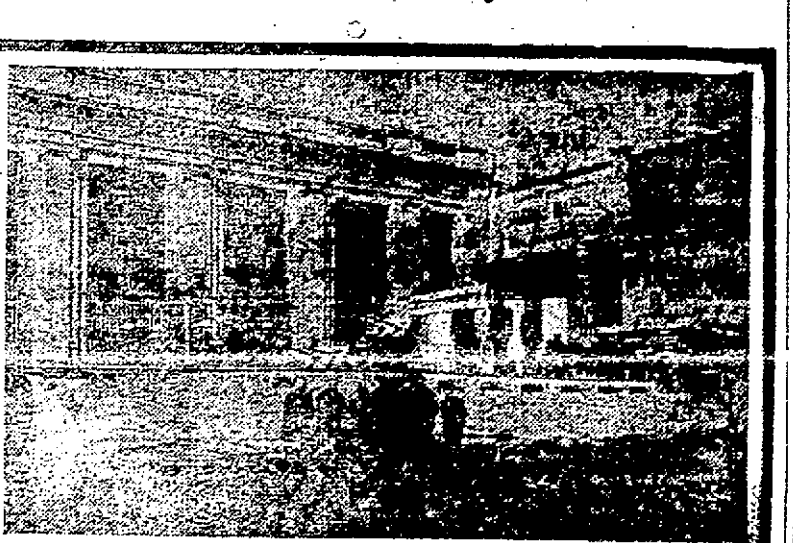

In line with this is a series of airplane bombs, ranging in size from those not much bigger than a man's fist to those as large as a well grown boy. Each of them is equipped with steel wings so that the bomb will land point foremost.

Four French "seventy-fives," war worn in the fight for "Liberty," form a grim battery that faces the spectator as he enters the big hall. One of them has been struck by a high explosive shell, which ripped the steel jacket from the barrel of the cannon as though it had been wet paper.

On three sides of the hall are double rows of enlarged official photographs taken on the French, Italian and British fronts. They give an intimate view of German prisoners, life on the big British dreadnaughts, scenes in the trenches, soldiers at play and a thousand and one other equally interesting and absorbing subjects. Real photographs, these, with every detail clear, every feature standing out.

Liberty Land will last till May 4. Tickets can be obtained free at Liberty Loan booths and throughout various organizations in the city or through the Liberty Loan Committee at 120 Broadway, New York.

Land Battleship in Hoboken, N. J., Going After Liberty Loan Dollars

This is the official picture of Hoboken's dreadnaught mounts 18 nine-inch guns, Ken's Liberty Loan battleship, the "Liberty Loan," and two fifteen-inch guns. It started from the upper end of the city April 8, the opening day of the Third Liberty Loan, and is moving down town a certain distance for every thousand dollars subscribed. The city hall is its goal, and that goal will be attained when Hoboken goes "over the top" and obtains its quota of approximately $4,500,000.

The battleship is 95 feet long and weighs more than ten tons. Its decks will hold more than 60 persons. The Avery.

Over the Top

LIBERTY LOAN LIMERICKS.

There was an old miser named Fend
Whose income he never went beyond.
But giving the devil
His due, on the level,
OLD FEND BOUGHT A LIBERTY BOND!

There was an old splinter named Hal
Who had sighed for a husband to call.
But decided to own
Some Bonds in the Loan
Which was better than no bonds at all!

There was an old soldier named Gann
Who had fought like a fiend at Bull
Ran.
When his pension arrived
The old boy contrived
To purchase two Bonds and a bun.

Perhaps saving money's not pleasant,
But the Bonds you are buying at present
Will put a big dent
In the crown of some gent
And make a free man of some peasant!

When Old Uncle Sam Gets through
fighting
(Which isn't so far from this writing)
He'll know that your Bond
Helped some boy win the peace
Who helped knock down Kaiser's king!
WILLIAM F. KIRK.

PEASANT UNAFRAID OF SHELLS

Frenchwoman Clings to Home Despite Bombardment.

An old peasant woman sat at the door of her little cottage beside a road near the front in France. A shell had gone through the roof of the cottage, and there was only one room she could occupy. When there was a bombardment she retired to the cellar.

A party of Americans visiting the front passed, and one of them asked the old woman why she stayed there.

"It is my home," she replied, "and I am too old to go away. Besides, my son will come back some day, and I have to keep the home for him. He is in the army now."

Americans, buy bonds of the Third Liberty Loan and keep your homes for your sons.

AMERICAN MARINES FIGHT AT THE FRONT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, April 25.—American marines are at last in the trenches in France. This became known today when relatives were notified that Corporal Charles W. Rath of Highland, Ohio, had been wounded in action. No list of marine casualties has yet been made public by the navy department, but it is announced that this will be remedied and that the list of casualties in the corps to date will be made public today. Recently Representative Britton of Illinois, complimentary in the House that the Marine Corps was being kept out of action because of the jealousy of the army.

It is understood that the Marines in France who form a part of the new Pershing's forces were sent into the front at a certain sector on March 25 and since that time have been doing their share along with the army.

CROSSING INQUEST NOT FINISHED

The inquest that Coroner Ernest A. Kelly is holding to place the responsibility for the accident on the Broadway crossing early on the morning of March 4, when a West Shore train crashed into a Kingston trolley car, resulting in the death of three men from injuries sustained, and injuring fifteen, will be resumed at the court house at 10 o'clock the afternoon of May 28.

Condition of the Trolley Car. Thomas McNellis and William Elmer, mechanics employed by the trolley company, testified relative to the condition of the trolley car after the crash.

McNellis said that the power was shut off and that the brakes were set. Elmer said that the power was shut off, but he did not know whether the brakes were set or not.

Condition of Gates. Anton Elmer, who has charge of the gates at the Broadway crossing from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m., stated that he took about five seconds to lower the gates, but seven seconds to raise them.

"The gates were in normal condition the day before, and the mechanism was working all right after the crash. The gates, of course, the downtown gates were broken."

He was in the Hotel Elster when the crash occurred. He did not see the train or the trolley until after the crash.

When he first looked out the west gate, he saw the gate towards the freight house was up, with the power broken off. The gate bell in the tower he thought was in normal condition.

The other bell (the bell which rings when the train is due in three or four minutes) had been working automatically, but was connected with the trolley working normally.

As far as he knew Moore's (the gatekeeper who was on at the time of the crash) eyesight and hearing was normal.

The gatekeepers had no definite instructions about just when to lower the gates, excepting that they should lower them in "ample time."

It is the custom of the gatekeepers to lower the gates just as soon as the automatic bell in the tower rings.

Testimony of Mr. Delaplaine. William D. Delaplaine, general manager here, testified that all trains were prohibited from going over the crossing at over ten miles an hour.

The speed limit in the yard was thirty miles, an hour, but as far as he knew there was no provision or order as to just when the engineer would have to slow up just before making the crossing, to reduce the speed to ten miles.

All gatekeepers were examined when they were hired, and if their eyesight and hearing was rated as just plus they would be examined again in two years, and if their rating was not first class they would have to be examined again every year.

Moore had always seemed to be capable in his work. He had been with the railroad for over twenty years and was now employed as gatekeeper in that tower for about six months.

Other Testimony Given. Jesse DelVal, a local butcher, was a passenger on the trolley car. He did not pay much attention to what happened on the trip up and about the first thing that he remembered was when he found himself on the ground after the crash.

James E. Davis was on the scene about ten minutes after the crash, but could not give definite testimony.

QUARRYVILLE. Quarryville, April 25.—Miss Mary Hornung celebrated her birthday last Saturday by entertaining a few of her friends.

Mrs. Albert Brant is visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Quirk.

Our public school will give an entertainment in the hall Friday evening of this week. Proceeds for the Red Cross. Everybody go and help a worthy cause.

During the rain there was a goodly crowd to Sunday school and preaching service Sunday. As usual we were very successful.

William Wolten has gone to his daughter's at Saugerties for the summer.

High School P. T. Association. The P. T. Association of the High School met with the parents and teachers of the high school students at the high school on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to form a Parent-Teachers Association.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. P. J. Gallagher, president of the P. T. Association, with Mrs. W. R. Anderson, secretary pro tem.

The meeting was then given in charge of Mrs. R. E. Leighton. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. P. J. Gallagher; first vice president, Mrs. David Gill, Jr.; second vice president, Miss Margaret Cordes; secretary, Mrs. Tracy Tinsley; treasurer, Mrs. J. S. Roosa.

It was decided to hold meetings the third Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m., with the exception of the May meeting, which will be held the second Wednesday in May.

Out on Bail. Joe Cimoroni of Glasco, who was committed to the county jail Wednesday night to await the action of the grand jury upon a charge of assault of second degree, was released today on $500 bail, the bond being furnished by an Italian friend of Cimoroni's. It is alleged that Cimoroni kicked his dog on Corbetta, Victim Reynolds of Saugerties, when he attempted to capture the dog, which it is alleged was not licensed.

LIBERTY RALLY NETTED $5,000

S. C. Benson of New York Talks on "Dark From Hell" at Woodstock Wednesday Resulted in Sale of That Amount in Liberty Bonds.

A Liberty Loan rally that wound up with the sale of $5,000 worth of Liberty Bonds and about $100 worth of Thrift Stamps was the record set by Woodstock Wednesday evening at the meeting held in Firemen's Hall in that village which was addressed by Samuel C. Benson of New York.

E. J. Chase is chairman of the Liberty Loan committee in that village and the other on the committee are Judge Elwyn, Miss Alice Owen and Leonard Stender.

Chase arranged the meeting and arranged the program. Mr. Benson from the Liberty Loan Committee of the city, the rally that night was widely advertised by the means of posters and the hall was crowded when Mr. Benson began to talk.

Mr. Benson is a Red Cross worker and has served in the trenches in Belgium. His talk was "Dark From Hell" and was one of the best addressed ever heard in Ulster county.

So good was his talk that one man who had only expected to take out a $50 bond purchased $500 in bonds.

The committee in Woodstock are wide awake and expect Woodstock to go over the top in raising its quota.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

In Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, April 25.—The stock market began at the opening today, with many issues not traded in for some time. Price changes were extremely narrow. After the first quarter of an hour a number of specialties became active and strong. Distillers Securities moved up over one point to 51 1/2, and Gulf States Steel advanced a gain of 1/2 point to 11 1/2.

International Paper rose one point to 41 1/2. Inspiration was higher at 52 1/2. The standard issue were neglected. Steel Common sold 1/2 lower at 9 1/2, and then rallied to 9 1/4, and American Can, which opened 1/4 lower at 43 1/2, moved up in a few minutes to 44 1/2.

Marine Preferred yielded to 37 1/2 and Anaconda, after selling down 1/2 to 63 1/4, regained its loss. Liberty 3 1/2's were in demand at 93 1/2, while the 4's sold at 96 1/4.

Price movements were irregular all through the forenoon with many specialties showing activity and strength. The leading issues were generally fractionally lower. Distillers moved up 2 points to 52 1/2, and advances of around one point were made by American Can, Ohio Cities Gas, Inspiration Copper and American Cotton Oil.

Steel Common declined to 9 1/2, then moved up to 9 1/4, and reacted again to 9 1/2. Reading reacted to 21. American Telephone was exceptionally weak, dropping 1 1/2 to 35 1/2.

The stock market was quiet in the afternoon, the tone irregular. Distillers Securities was in supply and fell to 49 1/2, and Industrial Alcohol, which had been strong, fell to 35 1/2. Common maintained a steady tone, selling around 94 1/2.

Trading in the market during final dealings was extremely dull today. Steel Common sold around 9 1/2, and while lower than other standard issues were negligible.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Private Charles T. Ashby, who died in Monday at a hospital in Jersey City of pneumonia, will be held from the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Ashby No. 18 Ponckhockie street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and at 2 o'clock from the Ponckhockie Union Church. The interment will be in Montrose cemetery. The young man was a member of Company A, 86th U. S. Infantry, 5th Division.

Judge Granville M. Instalbe, for many years one of the best known lawyers in Northern New York, died several days ago at his home at Hudson Falls, aged 71 years. Judge Instalbe had a number of friends in this city. He was one of the organizers and at one time president of the New York State Historical Association and was instrumental in bringing the association to Kingston for its annual meeting in 1911. He was of a quiet and retiring disposition and possessed the confidence of many wealthy citizens in the section of the state where he lived. His education was received at Union College, Schenectady, and the Harvard Law School. He served as surrogate of Washington county and for a number of years was president of the Sand; Hill National Bank.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Board of Public Works Should Have a Music Committee Now They Have Kingston Point Park—A Job for Some One Maybe.

"Well, I see where the board of public works has, leased Kingston Point Park," remarked the Casual Visitor as he dropped into the city hall this morning.

"I expected they would take it over," replied the City Hall Oracle. "Wonder if they are going to have the same kind of music," mused the Casual Visitor.

"You don't call that music, do you?" snorted the City Hall Oracle. "Well, it was better than none at all," retorted the Casual Visitor. He added, "I wonder if any of the board of public works would have an ear for music?"

"Well, I see where the mayor writes poetry," suggested the City Hall Oracle.

"That's no indication he is a musician though," replied the Casual Visitor, "but it seems to me that the board should get busy and appoint a special music committee."

"What for?" asked the City Hall Oracle.

"To have charge of the music at the Point," explained the Casual Visitor.

"Maybe that would make a job open for some one," interrupted the City Hall Oracle.

"A job for some one?" said the Casual Visitor inquiringly.

"Sure, the board has a tree expert and there is no reason why it can't afford also to have a music expert," explained the City Hall Oracle.

"That would make a good job for some one," replied the Casual Visitor.

"And there ought to be no difficulty in finding some Bull Moose who understands music," added the City Hall Oracle.

Boys have been doing considerable damage to Kingston Academy Park. Two bird houses were fastened to trees in the park some time ago but on Wednesday one of the houses was smashed by stones which boys hurled at it. The boys also have thrown rocks and small stones on the lawn and against the shrubs which have been placed in the park, resulting in considerable damage.

Since the snow disappeared, Custodian Irwin P. Winne has been engaged in getting the park in shape for summer and it presents a fine appearance. When the shrubs and flowering plants which were set out last summer and fall come in bloom, they will add greatly to the attractiveness of the park which already is one of the beauty spots of town.

No. 7 Defeats No. 8.

Another fast and exciting game of baseball was played between Schools No. 7 and No. 8 at Forsyth Park on Wednesday, the score being 5 to 10 in No. 7's favor. There were many rooters for both sides. This is the fourth game they have won and haven't met a defeat yet and hope not to.

No. 7's lineup is as follows: Mahar, cf; Myers, 2b; Stoutenburg, p; Perlman, c; Huestis, 1b; Leonard, lf; O'Neill, 3b; Forman, rf; Needles, ss. Subs, Wood, Leventhal, Shealy.

ORDERS FOR THE PARADE SATURDAY

The Liberty Ball and Liberty Coach are expected to arrive here between five and six o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Victory D. G. Atkins, who is to be the grand marshal of the parade to be held here Saturday afternoon in honor of the Liberty Ball and Liberty Coach, has announced the general parade orders including place of formation line of march etc.

There will be four divisions and all will form on Albany avenue. The line of march will be Albany avenue to St. James street, to Broadway, to the armory.

It is not known just what time the ball and coach will arrive, but it is expected that it will be between five and six o'clock. A hour before the arrival, the fire bell will ring 1776, and this will be the signal for the organizations and citizens to assemble at the place of formation.

It is hoped that Old Glory will fly from every home and from every place of business Saturday in honor of the Liberty Ball and the Liberty Coach.

The parade is open to all organizations and citizens and Kingstonians should turn out and give to these emblems of liberty a rousing and patriotic welcome.

Update time, are giving the liberty ball and Liberty Coach a rousing welcome. The ball and coach are due at Hudson Friday afternoon.

Business will be suspended and the schools will close and what is expected will be the largest parade ever witnessed in that city will be held.

At Watervliet, after the ball and coach had been received, the town clerk, the force at the banks were kept busy for two hours taking subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan.

In the other cities the ball and coach have visited there were received with a big patriotic demonstration. Let Kingston do her bit and receive the Liberty Ball and the Liberty Coach in the right spirit.

The orders for the day are as follows: Headquarters of Grand Marshal Kingston, N. Y., April 24, 1918.

The following orders for the parade in honor of the Liberty Coach and Ball, which will be held in Kingston on Saturday afternoon April 27, 1918, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

The exact time is not known, but the city fire alarm will ring notifying the people that the Liberty Ball is on its way from Saugerties to Kingston.

1. When the city fire alarm strikes 1776 each organization and citizens will assemble at the place designated for the formation on Albany avenue near the city line in order to meet and escort the Liberty Coach and Ball to the armory.

2. The line of march will be Albany avenue to St. James street to Broadway to the armory, where the command will be halted and dismissed.

Order of March.

Chief of police and staff, Grand Marshal D. G. Atkins, and staff, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Judge James A. Berts, Rear Admiral Francis J. Higginson, Judge James J. Edwards, Corporal Calvin D. Winne, Edgar T. Shattuck, Christian W. Winne, William W. Davis, Dr. William J. O'Leary, Delaney N. Matthews, Sherill W. J. Smith, Walter P. Crane, Thomas J. Comerford, and Charles T. Coutant.

AUDUBON CLASS IN MOUNTAIN SCHOOLS

Sundown and Lowe's Corners Schools held Union Session—Ulster and Sullivan County Join Hands.

Four years ago a Junior Audubon Class was formed from the pupils of three district schools—Sundown, Greenville, Ulster county, and Lowe's Corners, Sullivan county. A union session has been held every spring to celebrate Bird Day, and excellent work has been done by the society.

The members have become familiar with birds and their habits they have tied them in the window, made bird houses, sent abandoned nests to city children, secured over one hundred readers to a pamphlet telling how birds help the farmer and they have given an evening entertainment on birds, illustrated with slides, before a large community gathering.

This year it seemed well to make the annual meeting a patriotic celebration. The Greenville school could not come this time and six small Sundowners were out with the measles, but about twenty pupils gathered at the Lowe's Corners school on Friday, April 19, and had a delightful afternoon. The room had been prettily decorated with greens, flags and Liberty Loan posters. Before the exercises, Mr. Dimock took several photographs of the society.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Helen DuBois, and opened with concert reading of Bible verses about birds and prayer by Mrs. Dimock. Recitations on birds were given by Melvin and Gussie Lieve, Sundown, by James and Laura Van Wagner, Charles Cross and Sheldon Ryan, Lowe's Corners. Interesting compositions on bird observation were read by Kenneth Ryan, Gerald Cross, Burr Kortright, Lowe's Corners, by Mabel TerBush Helen DuBois, Mary Sholey, Kenneth Brooks, and one written by Wessel Cross was also read. Mrs. Dimock told of sending some of the garden compositions of last year to Mr. Tuttle of State College, and of his words of appreciation. Parts on Longfellow's "The Birds of Killingworth" were then read, and the help given by birds to the farmers was emphasized. Mrs. Barkley, teacher of the Lowe's Corners school, read an interesting account of three bird shelters, kept up by her pupils. Bird calendars were reported. George Sholey had noted 21 varieties this season, Gerald Cross 20, these numbers led.

The second part of the program was wholly patriotic. It opened with the singing of America by all present and an interesting exercise of salutation to the flag, led by Mrs. Barkley. Recitation was given by William Van Wagner, Margaret Sholey read a stirring composition "How to Win the War." Evelyn Sholey gave a good account of Red Cross work. Ora TerBush had sent a composition on "How Farms and Gardens Help Win the War," and George Sholey gave a splendid composition on "War Savings." This was written in preparation for the "Junior Four Minute Men War Saving Contest." Mrs. Dimock then called attention to the poster showing our soldiers going "Over the Top" for us. On this she had lettered, "Give them Wheat—Eat Potatoes," and as she talked she put her points on the board. Boys and girls can help their country by Red Cross work, tarining or gardening, buying thrift stamps, food saving, "Four Minute Contests," and displaying war posters. She emphasized "Give them wheat—eat potatoes." At the close of her talk the whole audience took the following pledge, facing the flag, held by the president Helen DuBois, "I promise to serve my country in her time of need." With the singing of another verse of America this part of the program was concluded. Election of officers followed, Margaret Sholey and Wessel Cross tied on the first ballot for president, and in the second Mrs. Dimock was elected secretary. Games and refreshments followed the exercises and the pleasant afternoon was over.
